Meet Dr. Aviation T. Expert

BY DICK SIMS, COUNTY NEWS ASSOCIATION

Chicken manure has been much in the news lately, so that Dr. Aviation T. Expert's arrival here could not have been more timely.

Interviewed by County News Association, the multi-faceted Dr. Expert was, as usual, piling it higher and deeper, that is, solution upon solution.

"If my idea is accepted," Dr. Expert said, "we might have to start importing the stuff. The creation of an international airport to upstage Lindbergh Field is merely a by-product."

"You have other solutions," asked the reporter. "Yes, I like to look in several directions at once. There is the problem of the San Elijo mudflat which is sometimes called a lagoon.

"There is the nagging problem of trash disposal which we will dispose of along with the chicken manure."

"I see," said the reporter, to fill in a conversation gap.

"You do?" said the doctor with a disbelieving air, "I haven't even told you about the polar bears."

"Polar bears? No, as a matter of fact, you haven't. I didn't even realize we had a problem with polar bears."

"Most people don't, but the bears are being overhunted."

"Could you pull this altogether for me, doctor?"

Dr. Expert then went on to explain his fantastic plan for filling the lagoon basin with fresh water and freezing it, using chicken manure and all of the rest of the county's burnable refuse to fire super incinerators.

The fires would serve to compress gas to run the cooling system brine lines under the ice.

"We would get our solid, smooth and long surface for the international airport.

"At the upper, or Rancho Santa Fe end, we would break up the ice into chunks to create a polar bear environment for a living arctic zoo that would upstage the city's San Pasqual nature zoo for African animals."

"And, I forgot to add," the doctor said, "it would also end pressure for overcrowding of Rancho Santa Fe. No new roads would be needed in the Ranch," Dr. Expert said.

"How would that be?"

"The landing pattern of an international airport would be established over Rancho Santa Fe. Nobody in his right mind would move there."

"What about Interstate Five, it's in the center of the lagoon?"

'That's a technical problem, my boy. Technical problems are for engineers to solve while I get on with my bold, innovative thinking."

"I suppose the super incinerator cooling system is also merely a technical problem "

"That's correct. I tell 'em what to do, not how to do it."

The expert expressed hope that the people in responsibility in this county would move more quickly on his latest solution for an international airport than they did on the first.

(Readers will recall the first idea which was to bolt 100 aircraft carriers together for a floating airport.)

Dr. Expert said there are not even two carriers bolted together at the present time.

"Dr. Expert, there seems to be a pessimism in some officials who are involved in the location of a new major airport. They seem to think the decision might go against any new project in this county, especially since so many people in North County have objected to the expansion of Palomar Airport."

"They are obviously men of small vision — lackies trapped by old ways of thinking. Here I am offering them an airport at a tenth or less of the cost of a conventional flying field."

"I should say that it is imperative to find a useful method of disposing of chicken droppings — the chickens are producing it much faster than it can be converted to fertilizer," Dr. Expert added.

"What about the ice surfacing on the lagoon, wouldn't the jets slip off into the Pacific Ocean?", asked the reporter.

"Oh, no, we'd put down a nice non-skid surface on the ice in the runway section. I don't see any problem here."

"But freezing the lagoon solid, doctor, wouldn't that ruin the ecology that so many people are interested in?"

"It certainly would. It would also freeze a bunch of gnats and midges."

"I'm still a little stunned by all of this. Are you sure chicken manure will burn?"

"Oh, yes, I've been experimenting. Do you think I smell like this all by myself?"

Public Meeting Set For Community Plan

The second step in community planning comes to Lemon Grove June 30.

It will be a public meeting, called by the County Planning Department at Mt. Miguel High school at 7:30 p.m.

Approximately 800 persons are expected to attend.

According to Clayne Munk, senior planner of the County Planning Department, the meeting will be to select those who are willing to serve on a citizen's planning committee.

10,000 letters were mailed to Lemon Grove residents this week explaining the program. Usually, eighty per cent of the total of those receiving these letters attend such a meeting. Munk said. The percentage held true in meetings earlier in Fallbrook, Santee, Rainbw and Lakeside, Munk said.

At a meeting at the L. G. Junior High school in October the program was outlined to about 125 persons. Dr. Sam Smith, past president of the L. G. Chamber of Commerce, was program chairman. Munk said that Robert Kelsay, chief, Community Planning for the County, will presiding June 30.

The program is designed so that responsible citizens, representing the community, can help develop the type of community local residents want. County Community Planning personnel will be advisors. Eventually such programs would be submitted to the County Board of Supervisors through the County Planning Department.

DeMond Gets Degree

Harry DeMond, 3874 Bass st., Lemon Grove, picked up his B.A. Degree from the University of the Pacific during graduation ceremonies June 5.

DeMond was one of 551 graduating seniors to earn degrees.

CdO Rezone Snagged By New County Rules

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — An extensive rezone in the Sweetwater Knolls area has been held up until at least July 17 by the County Planning Commission.

The area, east of Casa de Oro, was the subject of a large rezone last year when the applicants were real estate men Robert Rundell and Arnold Dahl.

The new applicant is the Rancho San Diego Development Company, represented at the Friday hearing by Jerry McCabe.

McCabe informed the commission that the 129 acres under consideration was just the first of some 6,000 acres to be developed.

Zoning Chief John Cassidy had recommended denial of both the rezoning (largely to R-2 and R-3) and planned residential development (PRD) of the company.

Speaking briefly in opposition were Jack Skeels and Mrs. Hugh C. Banks, nearby residents who will probably have a good deal more to say on July 17.

Bernard Lang of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District asked for delay so that the school district can inspect the plans for the total acreage.

Had the planning department's recommendation not been for outright denial, it would have been for the delay.

Under new county policy, adopted recently by the County Board of Supervisors, developers of large tracts will have to get approval of their total planning, not just one subdivision unit at a time.

This is a process that could take months.

McCabe said the company wants to work with the county, but from the long list of objections made by Cassidy to the rezones and the PRD, this was a new attitude.

Monument Dedicated In Flag Day Ceremony

More than 2,000 persons attended the Flag Day dedication of a War monument at Spring st. and University ave. in La Mesa Sunday.

The monument project, sponsored by the Heartland Youth for Decency, was dedicated to the fighting men in this area who have died in the Vietnam War.

The pink marble monument was flanked by a bank of newly planted trees — a living memorial. One tree was presented by the L.G. Rotary club.

Harry von Zell, a television personality, was master of ceremonies.

Following the ceremonies, a reception was held at the La Mesa Police headquarters with Glen Adams, and Police Sgt. Bill Cook, who helped organize the HYD, presiding.

Vandals Cause $800 Damage

Sometime between June 1 and June 6, unidentifed suspect(s) threw several hundred dollars' worth of patio furniture into the pool of Juliette Real, 6547 MacArthur dr., Spring Valley, while she was out of town.

The vandals reportedly caused $800 worth of damage to the furniture and pool, including an expensive leather chair, tables, lounge-type furniture and garden tools.

The damage was reported to the sheriff's department last Wednesday, when the victim discoverd it.

Record Crowds Expected For Fair June 24

The Southern California Exposition, aiming for another attendance record, opens for 12 days of sun and fun in Del Mar Wednesday, June 24.

"Despite our steadily increasing attendance, the fairgrounds has proved capable of absorbing the crowds," O'Connor said.

"Parking is provided for more than 10,000 cars, and close supervision of traffic and the parking lot, makes it possible to easily handle more than 15,000 cars daily with turnover."

The Exposition's single-gate admission tickets of $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for children 6 to 12, and free admission to children under 6 includes free afternoon and evening Grandstand entertainment. Parking is 50 cents per vehicle all day.

Area High School Seniors To Graduate This Evening

By John Nicholson

Approximately 1,650 seniors from three area high schools will go through ceremonies tonight, receiving diplomas, signifying that they have completed their high school educations.

600 students from Helix High will take their last march through the "Tartan" at 8 p.m. this evening, led by four valedictorians.

Christine Hall, of Lemon Grove, among numerous awards, picked up a $250 scholarship from the Bank of America. She had a 4.0 grade point average for four years of high school.

Gunars Valkirs, another valedictorian from Helix, was also a fine athlete for the Highlanders this year, taking second place in the San Diego section track and field finals in the shot put and discus throw.

The other valedictorians were Joan Abel, and Margaret Shattock.

Grossmont Governing Board president, Robert "Bud" Birch, will award the diplomas to the Helix graduates at Helix Stadium.

At Mount Miguel, Maureen O'Brien will lead the class of '70 through the graduation ceremonies on the football field at 8 p.m.

Maureen pulled down all "A's" except for one "B" during her four years to lead the graduating class of some 535 seniors.

Also from Mount Miguel, Mark Turner, who has a 4.0 grade point average, will be honored. Mark is a three-year graduate, but is not a candidate for valedictorian because he won't actually graduate until August.

Palmer Svalstad, a member of the Grossmont Board, will assist John Cavanaugh, district administrator and Vela Gwin, senior class counselor, in handing out the diplomas.

Senior class president Don Carlson will lead the graduation class in the traditional changing of the tassels from the left side to the right of their mortar boards after the ceremonies.

At Monte Vista, seven valedictorians will lead the class

Dixon Installed As LG Lions 23rd President

Assistant Fire Chief Fred Dixon was installed as the 23rd president of the Lemon Grove Lions club Saturday at a dinner dance at Carlton Hills Country club. Dixon succeeds Jerry Mather.

More than 80 persons attended.

Parker B. Shumate and Jim Dorman were installed as vice presidents. V. J. Dorman was installed again as secretary-treasurer.

Past president Robert Russell, who is now the president of the L. G. Chamber of Commerce was elected for the "Lion of the Year" award. A handsomely engraved plaque was presented to him.

Attendance pins were awarded to Forrest Baxter, a past district governor, for 22 years; H. Holaday for 21 years and John Farley for 19.

Included in the entertainment was a quartet in old time attire offering old time songs. Shumate and Dr. Jerry Legerton appeared to be ringleaders. MG

School Tax May Rise 10¢

The Lemon Grove School District school board took a couple of heavy whacks at the preliminary budget Monday night but still left enough in to suggest a 10c property tax increase.

The board slashed $83,000 from the budget before handing it back to Business Manager Paul Reynolds and Superintendent Byron Netzley for further paring.

The initial cut brought the budget to $3,546,370 which suggested a $2.74 school tax. Last year voters approved a ceiling of $2.79. Netzley said he and Reynolds would work the budget over prior to the next budget meeting in an attempt to make additional adjustments. The next board meeting is set for Monday.

Netzley pointed out that the budget contained no provisions for potential salary increases. That matter, he said had to be considered in the final budget. His reference was to cost-of-living increases already in negotiation.

Oldtime Days Association Sets Picnic

If you are looking for a safe, sane, moderately priced way for you and your family to enjoy the Fourth of July, the Lemon Grove Oldtime Days Association has the answer.

The Association is sponsoring its Annual Lemon Grove Family Picnic in Lemon Grove Park, Washington and Alton, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday, July Fourth.

The Picnic is open to all. Bring your own picnic lunch. There will be refreshments sold at the park.

A live band, games for kids and adults, door prizes and entertainment by Harold The Terrible. Lemon Grove's own Muddled Mystic, is promised.

County Budget Up $41 Million; 25-35 Cents Tax Hike Seen

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — County supervisors, placing a good deal of faith in a November bond issue, have trimmed $7.1 million from the county budget.

The action was taken during an all-day session Monday and leaves the overall budget at $239,544,063 up some $41 million from last year.

The effect on the tax rate is not known precisely and will not be until all revenue figures are in, but it is estimated that a tax increase of between 25 and 35 cents per $100 of assessed valuation will be necessary.

All funding was dropped for the San Diego City Chamber of Commerce, a move concurred in by that group. In addition, the $350 normally given many chambers throughout the county for advertising county resources will be dropped by one-third.

About $3 million in capital improvements and major office maintenance was taken from the budget in anticipation of a bond issue for this purpose in November. The capital fund figure would have been considerably larger in Morey's proposed budget had it not been for the bond issue.

Morey said that failure of the bond issue would be a disaster for county programs. Lacking bond money, the county would have to go to the property tax to raise money for delayed capital improvements, improvements that have been cut short the past two years.

Another $1 million was gained by the board decision to let the County Board of Education set its own tax rate independently by the county. This will drop the county rate a few cents, but the taxpayers will not know the difference, the board will pick it back up in another place on the tax bill.

Placed in the budget was $35,000 at Supervisor Harry Scheidle's urging to be available if the county decides to start actively pursuing a role as the regional transportation agency in all fields, air, road or rail.

Columnist Hardison Wins State Commission

James M. Hardison, Educator with the San Diego City Schools' Evening Adult Section, has been appointed Special Representative to the Commission of the Californias. Hardison conducts the Spanish column which appears weekly in this newspaper.

HARDISON

Lieutenant Governor Ed Reinecke, chairman for the Commission, said Hardison would be able to make a real contribution to the Commission, particularly because of his history studies and teaching experience in Spanish.

Hardison recently received a Masters Degree in History from the University of San Diego and has been an evening school Spanish instructor for eleven years.

He is an employee of General Dynamics/Convair where he has worked as business administrator, administrative supervisor, and is presently publications editor.

Next joint meeting for the Commission of the Californias is scheduled to take place at the Bank of America World Headquarters in San Francisco July 16 and 17.

Safety Inspections Slated For S.V.'s 300 Business Firms

Richard Nye, operator of the Nye Optical Co., 8781 Troy st., Spring Valley, protested a violation notice given by the Spring Valley Fire Department under the provisions of the Uniform Fire Code adopted in March.

Nye was ordered to remove hazardous fluids, LPG, paper boxes, unapproved appliance and electric extension cords from the premises.

He was also instructed to install two fire extinguishers and was given up to 90 days to correct other deficiences. Nye protested to the Fire Board of Directors who backed up the order. Later he appealed the order and the appeal was denied.

Battalion Chief Stan Mourning, who obtained a search warrant after the initial inspection was resisted, said that the department was in the process of inspecting all of the district's 300 businesses for fire and explosion hazards.

He said the department's engine companies are conducting the inspection on a day-and-a-half-a-week schedule. He said that it would take about a year to complete the inspection.

Mourning said that a letter was sent to every business firm prior to the start of inspections. Nye's firm was one of the first to be inspected, he said.

Added Feature In Newspaper

There's something added to your newspaper this week.

It's the 9th annual edition of San Diego County Image.

The forty page tabloid of San Diego "Happenings" contains pages on entertainment, tourism, sports, real estate and financial institutions.

They're just right to send to the folks "back home."

A few additional copies are available at the office of this newspaper on a first come, first serve basis.

LG Fire Report

The Lemon Grove Fire Department, for the week of June 8-15, answered two fire calls (one of them needless) and two rescue calls.

On June 13, firemen responded to a call to 2615 Buena Vista, at 10:09 a.m. There a pickup truck, belonging to Harvey Nolting, of 402 63rd st., San Diego, was damaged by fire in the amount of approximately $375. The nearby house was also damaged. Cause of the fire was given as igniting gasoline leakage. There were no injuries.

Also on June 13 at 8:11 p.m., a call came in that there was a fire at 2362 Peppermint ln., but it turned out to be a person burning weeds illegally, and caused to extinguish the flames.

On June 9, William Stewart, 23, was driving a car, with a woman passenger. At Mt. Vernon and Massachusetts, Stewart apparently became violently ill and the woman passenger called the fire station. Stewart was sent to Grossmont Hospital. The phone call was received at 6:39 a.m.

On June 13 at 10:28 p.m., rescuers went to 2832 Washington st. Emil Koch, 64 had suffered a possible heart attack. He was given oxygen and sent to Grossmont Hospital.

Local Gets Bachelor's

Stephen T. Rosemary, of Lemon Grove, picked up a Bachelor of Arts degree in political science from California Lutheran College at commencement exercises last weekend.

The graduation ceremonies were held at the school June 14.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

Will there be a summer Spanish class in the evening schools? If so, when does it start and how may I register?

A summer Spanish class for beginners is available for adults. Classes will be held in the Clairemont Adult School, 4140 Ute dr., each Monday and Wednesday evening from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. First class meeting will be held in room 203 on June 22. Interested students may join by registering in class or by calling the school at 274-3422.

Instruction is directed to the learning of Spanish from a conversational approach. Phrases relating to travel, domestic, and business situations will be used.

Students first learn to pronounce the sounds for Spanish vowels. The symbols for them are "a, e, i, o, and u." They are pronounced "ah, eh, ee, oh, and oo." Students then identify the vowel sounds in words in order to pronounce them. Such an exercise leads to the correct pronunciation of words. For example, the word "casa" has two vowel sounds. They are "ah" and "ah." When these vowel sounds are modified by the "c" and the "s" they form the phonetic sounds "KAH-sah" for "casa."

Special attention is given to students who are in work situations where Spanish is required. Many salesmen, nurses, doctors, and others who need Spanish within their work environment will have the opportunity to concentrate on phrases that are most important to them.

Telephone practice phrases that appear in this column will be explained in more detail in the class. You may hear them on 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:

Say "Va usted a estudiar?" (va oo-STEHD a eh-stoo-dee-AHR)
for "Are you going to study?"
Say "Yo voy a estudiar." (yoh VOH-ee ah eh-stoo-dee-AHR)
for "I am going to study."

USEFUL PHRASES:

Say "Que estudia usted?" (keh eh-STOO-dee-ah oo-STEHD)
for "What are you studying?"
Say "Yo estudio espanol." (yoh eh-STOO-dee-oh eh-spahn-YOHL)
for "I am studying Spanish."

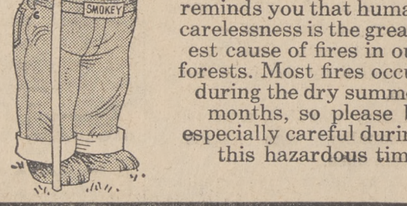
THE PHONE BOOTH



You might think "instant replay" is only used in football games on TV, but the Phone Company is also taking advantage of this technique at one of our training schools for installers. The installers—people who put in your phone—practice their jobs with other Telephone people who take the role of customers. These practice sessions, which simulate situations our men encounter on the job, are videotaped and replayed so the men can see how well they performed. Besides checking to see that they install the equipment correctly, we're also interested in their grooming, deportment and ability to handle situations. This is another way we try to make sure our installers are real pros before they go out on the job.

Smokey the Bear reminds you that human carelessness is the greatest cause of fires in our forests. Most fires occur during the dry summer months, so please be especially careful during this hazardous time.

The Question Box

Q Is there a charge to repair my phone?

A No. If something goes wrong with your telephone, just call the number for Repair Service that's listed in the front pages of your phone book. There's no extra charge for normal telephone repairs.

PTA HILITES

Vista La Mesa

Vista La Mesa PTA officers for 1970-71 were installed at a luncheon at the Tea Pot Inn recently.

Those installed were president Mrs. William Tabot, for a second term as president; 1st vice president, program, Mrs. Dwight D. Wineteer; 2nd vice president, membership, Mrs. Richard Pett; and vice president, hospitality, Mrs. William Corson.

Also, installed were 4th vice president publicity, Mrs. William Howell; 5th vice president, room representative, Mrs. George Maddox, secretary, Mrs. Al Pirie; treasurer, Mrs. William Shelton; historian, Mrs. Stuart Drummond; auditor, Mrs. Emmett Lacy; and parliamentarian, Miss Joan Wittrock.

The VLM PTA Board gave a potluck dinner for the incoming board at the school cafetorium last week. The board will also give a luncheon for the teachers, principal, and administrative staff June 19 at the school cafetorium.

Lemon Grove Jr. Hi

The Lemon Grove Junior High PTA gave a $200 microprojector to Lemon Grove Junior High School as the school gift for the 1969-70 school year.

The microprojector is one of the instruments the science department needed very badly, according to Louis Poluzzi, principal.

The students are now able to see and know exactly what they are to observe under the microscope, said Mrs. P. J. Matalon, science teacher.

The department received the gift in May and have been able to use it during the last few weeks of school.

San Alteos

The San Altos PTA will hold its annual pot luck luncheon on June 19, at 11:30 a.m. in the school cafetorium.

Teachers and school staff will be guests and special guests of honor will be Mrs. Helen Kelsey and Mrs. Laura McBroom, both teachers at San Altos who are retiring, and Mrs. Sharon Stalnaker, who has traveled from the El Cajon area since before Christmas to finish her year as PTA president.

Aloha will be the theme and babysitting will be provided during the luncheon for children from 2 to 8 years of age.

An extract known as dextranese, coming from mold, has been perfected in England, according to the London Royal College of Surgeons, which will prevent tooth decay.

New President To Give Talk At Methodist

Mrs. Larry Stillman, recently elected president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of First United Methodist Church, San Diego will speak today, at the church in Mission Valley, 2111 Camino Del Rio, at 10 a.m.

The talk, entitled "Choose Life" is a first-hand report on the National Assembly of the W.S.C.S. and the Women's Service Guild held in Houston, Texas last month.

Issues such as violence, racism, justice, education, and involvement of women in world affairs generated active debate among the 10,000 members attending the convention.

Mrs. Stillman, originally from west Texas has been a resident of Lemon Grove for 25 years. She is a former teacher in San Diego City schools and a member of Alpha Chi Scholarship Society of the South.

Following the report Mrs. Richard Johnson, chairman of local church responsibility, will present a musical program based on original works performed at the assembly.

The public is cordially invited.

LETTERS

Dear Editor:

We wish to thank you for the publicity you have given to Ninth District, Inc., CCPT this past year.

We feel that our projects such as: Hearing and vision screening; drug abuse rap sessions; venereal disease conferences; dental health clinics; clothing room; back yard swim program, etc. have benefited the children and youth in San Diego city-county. Without the excellent support of mass media many of these projects would have reached only those children whose parents belong to a PTA unit.

However, with your support we were able to fulfill some of our objects, such as: "To promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community;" and "To develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education."

Sincerely,
Mrs. Leo Ness
President

Dear Editor:

The After-prom committee for Mount Miguel High school would like to commend the seniors who attended the affair for their outstanding conduct. All of the 400 students conducted themselves like ladies and gentlemen and everyone seemed to have a good time.

We feel that the reason for such a pleasant evening was due to the fact that the Seniors came to enjoy themselves, rules and regulations were known in advance through a letter to the parent prior to the After Prom, adequate chaperones and wholesome entertainment.

Thank You Seniors, we are very proud of you.

H. W. Jacobson,
Chairman

Space Expert To Speak At Rotary Meeting

Mount Miguel Students Win Honors At Banquets

By Jan Luallin

Congratulations are in order for many students at Mount Miguel, as a result of awards given to those who attended awards banquets.

Linda Schmidt nearly walked away with everything at the Drama and Speech Awards Banquet. Linda was awarded the Outstanding Speech Student award, the Outstanding Drama Student award, and the Best Actress award.

Ron Groomes was named Best Actor, Marc Richard was announced Best Supporting Actor, Pam Adams was Best Supporting Actress, Rick Luiz was named Best Characteristic Actor, and Karen Davis was named Best Character Actress.

These awards are chosen from the entire drama season, which includes four major productions. Many others of both drama and speech classes were recognized.

At the Journalism and Publications Banquet held at Tarantino's, Carol Bowers was named editor-in-chief of the yearbook for the coming year, and Cindy Traxler was announced the new editor-in-chief for the school newspaper.

At the Senior Athletic Awards Banquet, Billy Joe Winchester, (for the second year) was named the Outstanding Athlete; Larry Caudillo was awarded the Most Sportsmanlike Trophy; and Don Carlson was awarded the Star of Honor, which is an award that covers all areas including sportsmanship, dedication, and achievement.

New Corps leaders were announced at the Corps Banquet. Next year's captain will be Barb Skinner. Lieutenants Lexy Lanham, Bunny [illegible], Karen Gonzales, Carla Hamilton, and Becky Torres.

Miguel Job Hunters Get Jobs At Fair

By Mike Kelso

Job seekers had a field day June 4, when Mount Miguel High sent twelve students to the San Diego Job Fair '70.

Eight of the twelve students that attended Job Fair were able to get jobs.

Sophomore Jose Franco was hired as a bus boy by Casa Blanca restuarant.

Juniors Ed Boze will be employed at Sears, El Cajon; Bernice McQuillen will go to work for Robinson's in Fashion Valley; John Villarreal will work at the Evening Tribune as a mechanic.

Seniors Mary Cook will work at North Island doing clerical work; Kathy Lattman will work at Southern California First National Bank; Linda Polinsky will work at Travel Lodge as a clerk typist; and Linda Russ will work at North Island Naval Exchange as a counter clerk.

Job Fair faced a serious shortage of job offers. Only about one half of the jobs needed were supplied by employers.

The following students from Mount Miguel are still seeking employment: Juniors Yolanda Avila, Kathleen Burke, and Mary Lopez, and senior John Mobley.

The Job Fair had several hundred students seeking employment. Matador Bernice McQuillan said, "I thought the Job Fair was well organized for the number of people there. A lot of kids got jobs and are satisfied."

Veterans 65 or older with nonservice-connected disabilities, and who do not draw pensions, are still required to certify that they are unable to pay for VA hospitalization, but no longer have to disclose financial details to enter a VA hospital.

HMS PINAFORE — The annual Casa de Oro Elementary School spring chorale program was held June 9 and 10 at 8 p.m. in the school's multipurpose room. This year's highlight was the production of HMS Pinafore, staged by the school's fifth- and sixth-graders. Playing the roles are students Elizabeth Davies as Josephine, and Scott Del Nero as Sir Joseph Porter.

Local Gal Wins Twirling Honor

Karen Eyler, a fourth-grader at San Altos Elementary School, took first place in the recent La Mesa Recreation Talent Contest, in the baton twirling division.

She took third in the sweepstakes division, and was third in the California Miss Majorette Contest held last month in Los Angeles.

Karen has won over 200 trophies and awards in baton twirling competition.

Firemen's Pay Goes Up But Tax Rate To Drop

The Board of Directors of the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District approved a budget for 1970-71 of $405,392.

This compares with a budget of $383,065 for the year immediately ending but the tax rate, should it change at all, will drift a little lower, Fire Chief H. L. 'Pappy' Hensley said this week.

The budget shows that there are 19 people on the payroll all of whom were given a seven per cent increase effective July 1. Pay scale ranges from $692 a month for rookies to $1,189 a month for the chief.

Chief Hensley said an increase in assessed valuation in this district would absorb the wage increase. The rate last year was 79.3 cents. He predicts a 79 cent rate this year. He also predicted that the district's assessed valuation would be $33,834,958 up five per cent from last year.

Hensley said that district residents continue to earn a comparatively low insurance rating because of the quality of manpower and equipment the department possesses. Lemon Grove boasts a four rating. Most districts in the county have a five or six rating, he said.

Baboons are not good climbers, preferring to live on the ground.

UCSD Needs Bikes

The University of California needs 15 of the mini-type bikes, 20 to 22 inches, that can be ridden by 10 and 11-year-old youngsters who have not had much experience in that line.

It needs them for the summer as an important part of the National Summer Youth Sports Program that will bring some 250 disadvantaged kids from impacted areas of San Diego to the campus for outdoor sports training.

Valley Student Gets A.A. From Sacramento

Dr. Richard Gillies, Dean of Student Personnel at Sacramento City College, reported that Colleen Louise Ballated, a resident of Spring Valley, has successfully completed requirements for the A.A. degree.

Monte Vista Student Wins Marching Band Scholarship

The Cameron Highlanders Pipe Band has awarded their annual scholarship of $150 cash to Malcolm R. Rosenberger, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rosenberger, 4144 No. Bonita, Spring Valley.

Malcolm has studied drumming since he was four years old, and has scores of parades, festivals, conventions and uncounted charitable performances and entertainments. He also was a Highland Dancer for several years previously.

He has won many medals and trophies for his excellence as a drummer, and last year became the Pacific Coast Champion for Amateur Highland Drumming. In the Pipe Band he holds the lead position of Drum Sergeant.

Malcolm is also a member of The Triad, a combo band playing for many high school and college social events for several years. He plans to use the scholarship money to attend Grossmont College in the fall studying zoology. He is an Honor student at Monte Vista High School, Spring Valley, graduating tonight.

SWINGERS — Gary Garrison, left, George Sperla, and Elvin Hayes line up to take a swing at one of the strangest golf balls ever seen in Lemon Grove. Garrison and Hayes will join a long list of celebrities in the Golf For Youth Football Tournament at Carlton Oaks Country Club. Sperla, owner of the Village Liquor and Golf Shop in Lemon Grove, is tournament director.

Golf For Youth Football Tourney To Net Pop Warner Team $2500

The second annual Golf For Youth Football tournament gets underway at 8 a.m. June 22, with an expected 330 golfers swinging their way around Carlton Oaks Country Club.

The tournament, under the direction of George Sperla, who runs the Village Liquor and Golf Shop in Lemon Grove, is expected to bring in $2,500 for the Los Toros Pop Warner football team.

Outstanding personalities expected to be on hand include Elvin Hayes of the Rockets, Speedie Duncan of the Chargers, Max McNab of the Gulls, and Ernie Meyers from KOGO.

Sperla pointed out that the tournament is designed for the week-end or once-a-month golfer who is interested in winning a prize. The $20 donation-entry fee includes eighteen holes of golf, with a celebrity in every foursome, dinner at the clubhouse after the tourney, and a chance to win a piece of $2,500 in prizes.

"Probably the top 250 finishers will receive prizes" added Sperla.

There will also be special prizes for the longest drive, closest to the hole on all par threes, shortest drives on selected holes, and a special "hole-in-one hole", which will have two pins, to give everyone a better chance.

A color television will be awarded by Tri-City TV for the hole-in-one hole.

The winner of the tournament, among other prizes, will receive a full set of clubs and a cart and bag, donated by Village Liquor and Golf Shop.

Trophies will be given to the top three finishers in each of four categories: low gross, low net handicap (1-18), low net handicap (18-?), and Peoria (six blind holes).

After the tournament, dinner will be held at Carlton Oaks Country Club, with Ernie Meyers acting as master of ceremonies and Fred and Mickey Finn helping in handing out the prizes and awards.

Other celebrities expected to be on hand for the affair are Gary Garrison, Dick Post, Sam Grunieson Charlie Waller, Steve DeLong, and Emil Karas, of the San Diego Chargers.

Gull fans will see the likes of Pete McNab, Al Nicholson, Ed Ehrenverth, Gordie Sinclair, Len Ronson, and Warren Hines.

Bingo Smith and John Block will join the big "E" in swinging around the course, and Don Howard and Skip Way will also be on hand from KOGO.

Lyle Bond and Bob Dale, of KFMB will be there along with John de Mott, KDEO, Rod Page, KSDO, Mike Smith KCST, and Chuck Owens, KSON.

Laddie Drake, of Carlton Oaks Country Club has dubbed the tourney, "the largest tournament I've ever heard of." There are still a few applications available, according to Sperla.

Erwin, Hale To Meet In Cajon Figure "8"

The spotlight will be on Lemon Grove drivers tomorrow night at Cajon Speedway, as Dean Erwin and Ed Hale, both of our town, run their figure-eight cars in the Friday night fender benders.

Hale, who also competes in the modified sportsmen class on Friday night and the super stocks on Saturday night, looked good in the opening program last week, leading the field in the 20-lap main event before going out after he lost a wheel on the fourteenth lap.

Erwin, who hit a hot streak and won several features last year, is back again to prove that he has the guts to win it all this year. Erwin took the main event last week and finished second to Hale in a 10-lap heat race.

Other drivers who are expected to compete in the wild program include Chuck Nieder of Jamul, and Dennis Vowles of San Diego. Nieder and Vowles collided at the "X" last week, but promised that they will have their cars ready by tomorrow night.

On Saturday night, Hale will join the likes of Jim Hitt, of Lemon Grove, Russ Bullen of Bonita and Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley in the spectacular super stock points race.

Bullen, who has won four main events, still leads the pack in points, but John Dineen and Ed Hale are closing in on the leader, trailing by less than 400 points.

Pat McIntyre, who has yet to win a 30-lapper, has finished second a number of times, and is due to crack the winners circle.

Beavers, Seals Still Deadlocked For First In L.G. Little League

A hotly contested two game series left the Beavers and Murphy Plumbing Seals still deadlocked atop the standings in Lemon Grove Little League Intermediate Division activity last week.

Both teams now sport 3-1, won-lost records while the Giants and Stars are 2-2 and the Carlton Cabinet Islanders and Padres are 1-3.

The Beavers and Seals split their series with the Beavers winning the opener, 11-10, and the Seals capturing the nightcap 7-5.

Three runs in the final inning gave the Beavers their victory with a home run by John Leamons aiding the cause. Robert Shaver hit his second homer in two weeks as the Seals collected 14 hits in a losing bid.

Mike Gamboa pitched a six hitter for the Seals and his mates came up with six runs in the last three innings for their win. Beaver hurler Bill Bryant was tagged with his first loss of the year.

The Giants and Islanders played one of the season's best series with the Giants on the long end in both battles, 3-1 and 6-3.

Tony Rosette outdueled Jeff Linney in a fine first game pitching matchup with both surrendering four hits apiece. Randy Sullivan was three for three including two doubles in the hitting department for the Giants.

In the second game, Warren gave up eight hits in defeating Mike O'Brien as the Giants banged out 13 hits.

The Stars picked on Padre pitching for 18-0 and 13-6 decisions. Andy Pickron hit a home run and Jerry Crabtree pitched the first game victory while Roger Fritz got the win in the second as the Stars garnered six runs in the fourth inning and six more in the fifth.

Young Duffer Tourneys Set

With the closing of the school year, the junior golf activity is beginning and will keep the youngsters busy all vacation.

The first tournament on the schedule is the San Diego County Match play championships at Naval Training Center's Sail - Ho Monday for boys and girls 11-12 followed by 10 and under youngsters Tuesday.

Boys and girls 13-17 will compete at Torrey Pines Tuesday.

The Coronado City Championships for 13-14 boys and girls will be at Coronado Muni July 1. For 12 and under division of Coronado will be at Colina Park on July 2. Boys and girls 15-17 will be at Coronado July 2.

The Inland Empire, all divisions, will be at Singing Hills June 29.

Qualifying round match play for S.D. County Junior Championship will be at Torrey Pines Tuesday.

Summer Golf Clinics will be conducted at various locations. Tuesday, Don Abrego's "Tiny Tots" classes for 4-8 year old youngsters will be at Presidio Park on Tuesday. Jim Moeller's Mission Bay Golf Clinic and Harry McCarthy's Balboa Park clinics follow on

Oops . . We Boo-Booed

In the June 11 issue of the Spring Valley Bulletin and the Lemon Grove Review, a story appeared which incorrectly stated that Mary Lara won a scholarship from the Lemon Grove Woman's Club Evening Section.

Actually, the scholarship was awarded by the Spring Valley Woman's Club Evening Section.

USIU Duffers To Tour Japan

With all their collegiate competition out of the way for the season, the United States International University (USIU) golf team is looking forward to a one-month tour of the Orient, including a two-week stay in Osaka, Japan, home of Expo 70.

Last week Coach Martin Seidler's divot diggers placed third in the NAIA National Championships at Liberty, Mo., behind Campbell College of North Carolina and Southwest Texas State.

"We got off to a bad start the first day," Seidler said, "and just couldn't make up the distance. We trailed in ninth place and climbed to third, which I felt was a creditable showing."

The tour to the Orient, sponsored by Sunkist Growers, Inc., USIU, and private donations, begins June 23 from Oakland and ends July 24.

Matches will be played with buyers and executives of Sunkist, along with meeting teams from the military and schools in Japan.

Scheduled to make the trip with Dr. Seidler are Phill Dickinson and Neil Gudgeon, both selected to the All-NAIA second team, Pat McDonald, Mike Laird, Mark Payne and William Wood.

Valley Man Gets PhD

David Russell Stratton, of 3700 Helix st., Spring Valley, was one of 137 students to receive doctoral degrees from the University of Texas.

Stratton joined four other Californians in picking up his PhD.

Charger-Rams On Television

The San Diego Chargers and Los Angeles Rams announced jointly that their regular-season game at the Los Angeles Coliseum on Oct. 4 will be televised in San Diego.

The decision to televise the game was reached by Sid Gillman, general manager of the Chargers, and Daniel F. Reeves, president of the Rams.

Both clubs reaffirmed that the pre-season game between the teams at San Diego Stadium on Saturday night, Aug. 29, will not be televised in keeping with existing policy.

The Chargers set another season ticket record last week.

The old record of 24,301, set in 1967.

Charger season tickets can be purchased at the club's main ticket office at the Lafayette Hotel, 2223 El Cajon blvd.

Musical Casting Set

Casting of most of the key roles in "Oklahoma!", second of the three productions that make up the 1970 season of Starlight Musicals at the Zoo, was annouced by Gordon Hilker, Director of United States International University's Center for the Performing Arts, which is producing the summer musicals.

Water Dist. Approves Budget

The Board of Directors of the Metropolitan Water District last week approved a 1970-81 budget of $193,624,000, slightly higher than that for the current fiscal year, $192,291,000.

Financial lending institutions will increase mortgages for new homes by $2-billion in 1970.

Seven Aztec Spikers Set For NCAA

San Diego State will be represented by seven athletes in this week's NCAA Track and Field Championships, June 18-20, at Drave University in Des Moines, Iowa.

Heading the list of entrants is durable Wes Williams who placed second in the 440 intermediate hurdles in last year's meet. Williams (50.5) will be up against stiff competition in the form of defending champion Ralph Mann from BYU (49.4) and UCLA's Wayne Collett (50.0). Williams ran a school record 49.7 in the 1969 NCAA meet.

The Aztecs have entered their one-two mile punch of Bob Messina (4:03.0) and Tim Danielson (4:03.1) along with three-miler Charlie Winsor (13:53.2). Based on times recorded in the 1969 championships, all three stand a good chance of picking up valuable team points.

In the field events, San Diego will have long jumper Arnie Robinson (25-3½) and pole vaulter Rick Olander. Top performance here also could bring SDS points as Robinson's mark would have been good enough for sixth in 1969 while Olander's vault would have placed him third.

The Greatest Exposition in 81 years
☆ Glenn Yarbrough ☆ Judy Lynn
STARS ON THE GRANDSTAND STAGE! Balladeer Glenn Yarbrough (June 24-29) and Country-Western Star Judy Lynn (June 30-July 5) headline the Expo's top entertainment on the big grandstand stage. Both shows free to fairgoers, too!
RIP-ROARING CHAMPIONSHIP RODEO! Six afternoons (June 30-July 5) on the grandstand track fairgoers will thrill and cheer as hard-ridin' cowboys rope and bulldog steers, ride buckin' broncos and big, mean Brahma bulls.
WEST'S MOST BEAUTIFUL FLOWER SHOW! Here's the Expo at its very best—with thousands of cut blooms, arrangements, hanging baskets and 75 garden landscapes to rival any floral event in the U.S. Nearly four acres of breath-taking displays.
NATION'S LARGEST HORSE SHOW! The finest riders and horses (2,000 of them) from 15 western states compete for $30,000 in cash prizes in this prestigious horse show, best known as "The Del Mar National." You'll see them all—hackney ponies, hunters, jumpers, fine harness, western, Palominos, Pintos, Arabians, Appaloosas, Morgans. Twelve big days!
CHAMPIONSHIP LIVESTOCK! Hundreds of blue-ribbon and dairy cattle, sheep, swine and dairy goats—to enchant the small fry, and interest any fairgoer.
THOSE "SWINGING AMBASSADORS"! San Diego's own singing group — who carried our 200th banner last year across the nation — will entertain on the grandstand stage the first six afternoons (June 24-29). They really move out!
NEWEST ART SHOW IN THE COUNTY! Sometimes controversial, the Expo's big, dynamic art show this year brings a totally new offering to fairgoers, highlighted by "San Diego Landmarks" and Don Diego Teenager competition.
RIDES AND SLIDES AND FUN GALORE! For the young ones, there's the big West Coast Shows carnival with every kind of ride imaginable. Plus that Giant Slide (so popular last year) and the Skyliner ride over the bustling fairgrounds.
CONTINUOUS ENTERTAINMENT! Besides the big grandstand shows and the Don Diego Varieties, there's minute-by-minute entertainment around the grounds every day. Singers, dancers, bands, performing dogs, puppets, marionettes, cyclists, jugglers, clowns—just name it. On the Youth, Community, and Don Diego stages.
HEART-TUGGING JUNIOR LIVESTOCK AUCTION! Always an Expo highlight. $60,000 worth of championship beef, lambs and swine raised by 4-H and FFA youngsters is sold at this yearly event. Monday, June 29, 2 p.m. and 6 p.m.
A CAVALCADE OF EXHIBITS! You can spend two hours or two days viewing hundreds of exhibits in Exhibit Hall (agriculture, military and community), in Bing Crosby Hall, the Trade Mart and Polynesian Village (commercial and exotic).
AND IT DOESN'T END THERE! What's your pleasure? Gems and minerals, hobbies, tropical fish, home economics, stamps, coins, photography, antique bottles, rabbits, poultry, pigeons, youth exhibits. Everything and anything for everyone!

Three Southwestern Students Win Honors At Annual Awards Banquet

Three students gained top honors at the annual Awards Banquet held at Southwestern College in the Student Union last week.

Named as Woman of the Year was Salley Mitchell. Miss Mitchell, a sophomore, is currently Associated Student Organization Secretary, and formerly was secretary and vice-president of the Associated Women Students. She is also secretary of the California Community College Student Government Association, a statewide organization.

Following completion of her studies at Southwestern, Miss Mitchell plans to transfer to San Diego State. Her eventual plans are to become a speech therapist in this area.

Man of the Year is Rex Sermon, ASO President, a member of the College Executive Committee and treasurer of the CCCSGA. Sermon, a 26 year old Navy veteran, is married and lives in Imperial Beach. He attended High School in Idaho Falls, and enrolled at Southwestern on his release from the Navy. He is a Business Administration major and plans to transfer to San Diego State to complete his studies.

Winner of the Student Service Award, determined by a vote of the entire ASO, is Kent Morgan. Morgan is a Hilltop High graduate and is majoring in Afro-American studies. He plans to transfer to San Diego State and eventually follow a career in college administration.

Morgan is Sophomore Representative on the Student Council, a member of the Executive Committee, co-author of the newly adopted Student Constitution and is founder and student director of the new Experiment in Education at Southwestern.

Several other awards are presented at the annual banquet by each department at the College.

The Business Awards went to Mary Jo Shuda and Richard Turnblad. The Music Award was won by Wayne Kiser and Drama Awards were presented to C. R. L. Anderson, David Pixley, and Denzil Walden. Winners in the Dance Awards included Hector Avila, Catherine Hall, Eric Keel, Carol Page, Cheryl Roop, Martha Schrumm and Susan Starr.

Speech winner was Janet Anderson, who also was a National winner at the University of Michigan finals held during the spring semester.

The Athapascan honored Dave Grell and John Bracker and the Montage Magazine awards went to Jane Reeves and Phil Shofner. Police Science honors went to Billy Don Fawver and Michael Steinmentz, and the Citizen Athlete Award winner is Dayle Mazzarella.

The Southwestern Club Award went to Sinawik, women's auxiliary of Kiwanis, and ASO Life Memberships were awarded to Janet Anderson, Hector Avila, Garrett Edmunds, Steven James, Sally Mitchell, Kent Morgan, David Naiva, and Barry Walker.

All honor winners received Certificates and top students received individual trophies. The Awards Banquet is the final event of the year prior to graduation.

Car Stereo Stolen

A car stereo tape deck with an AM-FM radio was stolen from Virgil Ross, of 8125 Blossom ln., Spring Valley, last Wednesday between 4 and 9 p.m.

Ross said the set was valued at $125.

Juvenile Traffic Down

Citations received during May by the Juvenile Traffic Court numbered eighteen hundred and thirty-seven according to its Chief, George W. Ingersoll.

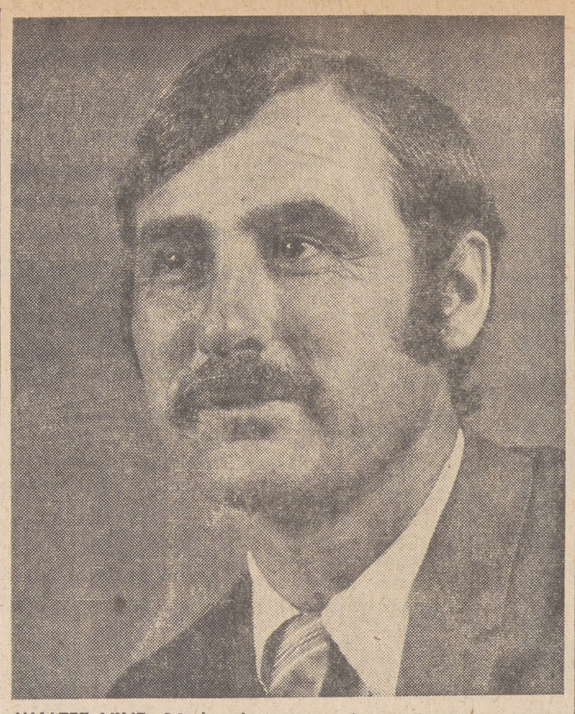
This reduced number reflected a lower than usual issuance by the San Diego Police Department.

Dial-A-Rocket

A Dial-A-Rocket system has been instituted here by San Diego's professional basketball team.

Fans may call 224-2922 and receive information on the team. The voice of Coach Alex Hannum, Rudy Tomjanovich, Elvin Hayes, Calvin Murphy and others may be heard with pertinent information about the team.

The information service was started earlier this week.



WALTER VINT, 36, has been named president of the San Diego Rocket Rebounders for the coming 1970-71 National Basketball Association season.

The Rebounders have increased their rolls to over 750 members since their inception in 1967 as the official booster organization for the Rockets.

Other officers named include Mike Fulkerson, Vice President; Catherine Mix, Secretary-Treasurer; and Directors Dave Buchanan, Robin Dean, Cathy Deane, Harvey Furgatch, Kent Newmark and Reno Pignotti.

Gardeners To Attend Fair

Instead of the regular meeting of the Grossmont Garden Club in July, the members are to have a day at the San Diego County Fair on June 29.

Those wishing to join a caravan or wish transportation meet at the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce at 9:30 a.m.

The game of bridge was developed from whist.

SC1stNat Adds 6

Southern California First National Bank, San Diego, has completed acquisition of the six-office Gateway National Bank, El Segundo.

This doubled the number of SCFNB offices in Los Angeles County and increased to 56 its total number of banking offices in Southern California.

Clean Rite Loses Pair Despite Homer By Hortt

Jaimie Hortt, of Clean Rite Sewer and Drain, belted a home run in a losing effort last week, as her team lost two games in Spring Valley Bobby Sox action.

Spring Valley Woman's Club knocked off Clean Rite 28-11 despite Jaimie's four-bagger to hand the losers their seventh loss of the year, and second place Shaieb Realty won an 18-17 heart-stopper for Clean Rite's eighth loss.

In other major league action, it was first place Odell Realty blasting San Diego Sandblasting, 18-1, as Debbie Whitley picked up the win for Odell.

Shaieb Realty also knocked off last place Sandblasting, 23-5, as Sherry Clarke was named the winning pitcher.

In minor league action, Delp Plastering plastered Johnson Excavating, 18-10, and knocked off Foster Freeze/Thomas Disposal, 15-10.

Galbreath/Sportland split a pair of games, winning 24-13 over Spring Valley Boosters, and slipping up in a close one to Mac Electric, 14-13.

A grand slam home run made the difference in the Mac Electric game, as Denise Christensen belted a four bagger for the winners. Sharon Slaugh knocked a two-run homer for the losers.

Mac Electric brought its season record to 5-5 with a 19-9 bombing of Fosters/Thomas.

Minor League Standings

Delp Plaster	8-3
Sport/Galbreath	7-3
Mac Electric	5-5
J. Excavating	5-5
Fosters/Thomas	5-5
S.V. Boosters	2-7

Turf-Surf Opens July 24

DEL MAR — Richest presentation of the far-famed Del Mar Futurity, the West's premier juvenile classic, looms for the 42-day turf-surf meeting opening July 24, it was disclosed with the announcement of 198 eligibles for the six furlong fixture.

Current value of the stake, which will have its 23rd running on closing day of the upcoming meeting, Sept. 12, is $86,395. This includes $60,000 added by the Del Mar Thoroughbred Club plus fees from 764 original nominations and 198 of that number kept eligible last May 1. With the normal expectancy of two or three supplemental nominations plus a starting field of 10, the race should gross well in excess of $100,000.

Rocket Rookies On Display Tonight

The San Diego Rocket Rookies receive their first test of their week-long tryout camp tonight when they play host to the Los Angeles Laker Rookies in an 8 p.m. game at the San Diego Sports Arena.

Tickets for the contest are on sale at the Arena ticket office at $3, reserved section; $2, general admission; and $1, high school age and under.

The game will be broadcast over KFMB-AM (760 on the dial) with Tom Murphy doing the play-by-play.

The contest will be the first of three games scheduled this week for the Rocket yearlings. Saturday they travel to Phoenix to meet the Suns' Rookies at 8 p.m. then Sunday they fly to Los Angeles to take on the Lakers again in a 7 p.m. battle at The Forum.

Charger 'Open House' At Stadium Next Week

The San Diego Chargers will hold "Open House" at San Diego Stadium next week.

Designed to allow all San Diegans to inspect facilities at the stadium without charge for admission or parking, the "Open House" will be held Monday through Friday from 7 to 8 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 2 p.m.

With the San Diego Padres on the road next week, areas of the stadium, not normally open to the public, will be available for inspection. Chargers' Jim Hill and Bob Briggs will conduct tours through the Charger Clubhouse and onto the playing field. Jerseys of all the players and training equipment will be displayed in the clubhouse.

The new Charger highlight film, "Legend of the Lightning Bolt," willl be shown at the conclusion of the tour in the Sportsman Club on the Plaza Level. The ticket office will be open for persons interested in purchasing season tickets.

All persons attending the "Open House" are requested to enter the stadium through Gate D. They will be given a free fan folder containing Charger pictures, autographs and a 1970 schedule.

Helix Seniors Honored

Eleven Helix High School seniors were named Governor's Scholars. They are: Joan Abel. Kevin Gerhardt, Christine Hall, Lemon Grove, Dean Jacobs and Jill Kuykendall.

Also, Craig McCollum, Oliver McConnell, Rolfe Moore, Nancy Niehaus, Gunars Valkirs, and Lisa Williams.

Aztec Tickets Selling Like Hotcakes Now

The sale of San Diego State season football tickets has gotten off to a fast start as already the total is approaching the 2,000 mark and they've only been offered 10 days.

At the present rate it looks like last year's record sale of 7,800 could be in serious jeopardy.

Season tickets for six Aztec home games are priced at $20, $25 and $36 depending upon location. The seventh home contest (Fresno State on Oct. 31) is the annual Shrine game and is not included in the package. These tickets can, however, be purchased separately along with the season tickets.

Old Folks To Star In Track Meet July 2

SAN DIEGO — The only track meet in the world where the athletes are older than the onlookers gets unders way here July 2.

It's the third annual U. S. Masters Track and Field Championships. Approximately one thousand middle-aged fitness fanatics are expected.

To qualify you have to be over 40, have a doctor's OK, and be crazy enough to dash about or throw things while clad in shorts in full view of thousands who may or may not be filled with admiration.

The meet is sponsored by the city Recreation Department and the San Diego Track Club, sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union, and ignored by millions who can't believe it.

But:

One of the middle-aged athletes will win the hundred-yard dash in 10 seconds or so. It will take a 52-second effort to win the 440. Twenty-three flat might get a first in the 220. They'll get close to two minutes in the half mile.

A special event called the "masters six" allows each entrant to compete in the 100, 440, mile, shot put, javelin and long jump for the greatest total points.

There will be open competition in all field events, walks, relay races, marathon, and "masters six."

Urban Planning Course Offered

The geography department at Grossmont College has announced that a new course, urban planning, has been created and will be open for enrollment for the fall semester.

According to geography instructors Lee Engelhorn and Wayne Harmon, the course is designed to develop skills in the use of planning media and techniques and to create an understanding of aerial concepts.

Deadline for enrollment is August 28.

Quaker Men Set Work Day

The "Quaker Men" of the Spring Valley Friends Community Church, Bancroft and Kenwood drs., Spring Valley, will sponsor a "work" day, Saturday, June 20, to benefit the church and grounds.

The laymen of the church will have charge of the Sunday, June 21 worship services at 11 a.m., while the Pastor is absent. Layman Everett Lucas will bring the message.

New Boy Scout District Formed Includes Area

The formation of a new Scout district, covering Southeast San Diego, Skyline Hills and Encanto areas has been unanimously approved by the San Diego Council Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America.

"Aequus" has been the name selected from the first District meeting, held in May. At that time Marine Staff Sgt. Harvey R. (Bob) Wilson, of 7249 Skyline dr., was selected (elected) District Chairman.

Sgt. Wilson said on the formation of the new District, "Now we will be able to do more in our own area, particularly in the training of leaders. It will be an uphill fight, but finding leaders isn't near the problem it was a few years ago."

Sgt. Wilson is noted for his tireless efforts on behalf of Scouting in the new District. He has spent many months on programs of adult training, attracting leadership and fund raising. One of his unique programs is an agreement reached with the 11th Naval District, in which Civil Service workers are to be given credit for work in support of Scouting.

The Aequus District has more than 1200 Cubs, Scouts and Explorers in 44 Packs, Troops and Posts.

Officers elected, in addition to Sgt. Wilson, were: Mrs. Russell Silviera, Vice Chairman; Robert Keetch, District Commissioner; Fenton J. Bembry, Finance; Harold J. Ballard Activities; Joe Thompson, Publicity; Thomas A. Fraley, Exploring; Loudin Beam, Training; Joseph Joyner, Health and Safety; and William P. McClelland, Camping.

Van Wants The Roll Called

WASHINGTON — Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin is co-sponsoring legislation aimed at breaking the veil of secrecy that surrounds many votes in the House of Representatives.

He said the proposal would enhance the public's right to know by providing for roll call votes on controversial issues when as many as 20 percent of the Congressmen in attendance demand them.

"At present, many vital questions are decided on teller counts of House members filing down the center aisle," he said. "While this procedure helps expedite consideration of a bill, the position of individual members is not recorded, and citizens have no way of knowing how their Congressman voted."

The measure to force more record votes was introduced in the House by a bi-partisan group of more than 50 members.

Under the bill, the sponsor of an amendment defeated on a non-record teller vote could ask for a roll call vote, and if one-fifth of those present supported his request, a roll call would be ordered.

"Too often," Van Deerlin said, "the teller vote is simply a refuge to shield Congressmen from public scrutiny." Last month, he criticized the use of teller counts after an inconclusive debate on the Cambodian invasion.

Newsman Joins Senator Mills

State Senator James R. Mills (D-San Diego) announced the appointment of San Diego newsman Neil Good as an Administrative Assistant to his office.

Good, a Lemon Grove youth who attended Mt. Miguel High School, has worked on numerous local newspapers and was San Diego News Editor of the San Diego Independent before joining Mills' staff. He also covered the South Bay area for the twice-weekly paper.

Mills is seeking re-election to the 40th Senatorial District, which includes San Diego, Imperial County and the South Bay area.

A Navy veteran, Good lives with his wife Sherryl, in Hillcrest.

Board member Joseph Famme will hand out the diplomas.

The valedictorians from the Spring Valley school are:

Cindy Burnham, 18, editor of the school's literary magazine. Cindy has been a member of California Scholastic Federation (CSF) for four years and has won awards from Bank of America, National Council of Teachers, and National Merit Contest.

Cindy plans to attend UCSB (honors at entrance).

Kathy Lindlan, 18, a "math bug" who has won awards from Bank of America, Lion's Club and Spring Valley Woman's Club.

Kathy has been a member of the CSF for four years, and has won the Monte Vista Math Department Award. She plans to attend UCR and hopes to major in math or German.

Laurie Meredith, 18, a member of the Monte Vista Math Team.

Laurie has collected awards from the Spring Valley Lion's Club. Bank of America, and was a four-year member of CSF. She plans on attending San Diego State, and hopes to major in math.

Carol Tucker, 18, sister of a Granite Hills valedictorian of six years ago. Carol is a four-year CSFer, a member of the tennis team, and a National Merit Awards winner.

Carol is interested in ecology, and plans on enrolling at UC Davis.

Jane Nolan, 17, a member of the school's baccalaureate committee. Jane has been accepted with honors at UCSD, is a four-year member of CSF, and winner of the Daughters of America Good Citizenship Award.

Jane is interested in tennis, and will attend the University of Hawaii this summer before starting at UCSD.

Steve Subber, 17, a member of the physics, math and German teams.

Steve has won awards from Bank of America, National Merit Contest, AFL/CIO and Elks Club. He was also the Savings and Loan Outstanding Student, and president of the Monte Vista CSF.

Steve plans to attend Occidental College where he will major in chemistry of biology to prepare him for a possible career in medicine.

Colleen Ross, 18, an animal lover who hopes to become a veterinarian.

Colleen has won awards from Bank of America and the school speciality corps. She has won the America Business Woman's Scholarship, the Dewit-Bisby Teaching Scholarship and has been a member of CSF for four years.

Helen Singer Dies June 8

Helen June Singer, 54 of 7414 Waite dr., Lemon Grove, died June 8, after living in this area for 20 years.

Rosary was recited for her June 10 and a requiem mass was celebrated June 11 at Saint Martin's Church in La Mesa.

She is survived by her husband, Edward, and her mother, who lives in Boston, Massachusetts. Interment was in El Cajon Cemetery.

Administrators View Chances Of Park For Sweetwater Valley

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Procedures that could lead to a mamouth ten-mile long park stretching from Sweetwater Reservoir to San Diego Bay were outlined on Friday by County Chief Administrative Officer Fred J. Morey.

His recommendations are the administrative back up to the policy recommendations of Supervisor Henry A. Boney who sees a recreational green belt running up the Sweetwater Valley.

The lands around the reservoir have been envisioned as a county regional park for some time. This portion of the park would be as close or closer to the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove section than to Chula Vista-National City.

Boney had worked with the California-American Water Company, or, perhaps, had worked on the company for a county lease at a nominal price for the park development.

The company is the owner of the lake and had expressed interest in the plan since the near slopes to a domestic water reservoir cannot be used for normal land development because of protective laws.

However, the condemnation suit filed by National City and the South Bay Irrigation District apparently caused the company to lose whatever interest it had in the county lease.

Morey recommended that the board approve a consultant to work with a special park planning committee formed from the governmental agencies in the area.

The main committee would be of representatives of National City, Chula Vista, the Sweetwater Civic Association and the county.

In a technical capacity to advise this committee would be San Diego, port district, Local Agency Formation Commission, South Bay Irrigation District, Bonita-Sunnyside Fire Protection District and Army Corps of Engineers.

Financing of the planning effort, Morey said, should come from a special tax in the County Flood Control District, Zone Five.

He said that the area has so many interested jurisdictions that a normal county community planning effort would be very difficult.

The county planning staff, he said, while capable of doing the consultant job is overburdened with prior assignments.

Morey suggested that the park planning committee established a park study design before a consultant is obtained. The study design would place limits on the projects in general terms.

Boney says that favorable response to the overall concept has been received. He said there have been suggestions of public facilities operated and built by private interests, such as a fishing lake downstream from the dam.

FORMER MIGUEL speech coach, Bob Sanders, share a moment of pride with his protege Maureen O'Brien who has won an Elks' Club National scholarship. The award was based on scholarship, extra-curricular and-out-of-school activities, personality and leadership, perseverance and resourcefulness. Her winnings (local, state, and national) total $1200. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al O'Brien, 3939 Kenwood dr., Spring Valley, Maureen will attend the University of Santa Clara next year.

Stull Gets OK On College Hiring

SACRAMENTO — The State Assembly has given unanimous approval to legislation by Assemblyman John Stull, R-Leucadia, which calls on the University of California to require that all faculty members serve a minimum probationary period upon employment.

The measure, ACR 102, was the result of recent hearings by the Assembly Subcommittee on Educational Environment which Stull heads and which has been investigating problems on California's college and university campuses.

Stull said the university has a policy now which permits the granting of tenure upon employment with no probationary period to faculty members who are hired at the rank of associate professor or higher.

Stull said problems have arisen in recent years where a professor has been granted immediate lifetime tenure and there was no way to remove him from his position even though it was later determined that he was unfit for the post.

Boney Outdraws Mills In Support By Party

State Senate candidate Henry Boney — who won the Republican party's nomination in an uncontested primary June 2—said today he is elated that his winning percentage exceeded that of incumbent James Mills.

Boney said he was particularly pleased with the results in the Imperial Valley.

"It is particularly gratifying to see that Republicans demonstrate such a big show of support in my behalf," Boney said, "particularly in view of the rather light voter turnout in some areas."

Boney said he will aim his the registered Republicans in the 40th District cast ballots to nominate him as their representative in the general election whereas only 45.5% of the Democrats voted for Mills. Boney noted that Democrats outnumbered Republicans in the district, 59.7% to 34.8%.

Boney said he will aim hils campaign for the fall at the entire electorate in the 40th District, but will make a particular effort at winning a large majority of those voters who didn't turn out in the primary."

Boney, twice elected to the second supervisorial district, which includes East and South San Diego County, noted that Gov. Reagan carried the 40th District four years ago.

"We plan to take our campaign to the responsible Democrats in the district," Boney said. "I think they share my concern for the alarming increase in drug usage, campus unrest, the need for responsible tax reform and protection of our environment."

Spring Valley Couple Celebrates Thirtieth

Mr. and Mrs. (John and Vicky) Gramoy of 9769 Lamar st., Spring Valley, celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary June 15. The festivities included a time "on the town" with their three daughters, Beth (Mrs. John Gilbert), Peggy and Vicki Jean; John Gilbert (recently of the U. S. Air Force); John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton R. Gilbert of El Cajon; Bill Hohnhorst of Dayton, Ohio, and Jim Evans of San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. Gramoy were married in Canton, Ohio.

Where People Go...

CONVENTION CITY U.S.A.

SAN DIEGO — Where do Californians come most often for their conventions?

You guessed it. Not Los Angeles or San Francisco, not even Anaheim with its Disneyland, but fun-filled San Diego.

This year about 600 conventions with about 400,000 delegates will converge on San Diego for their annual meetings. Most of them are state and regional organizations from California and the Western states, but increasingly San Diego is being looked at as a site for large national conventions.

Already booked for 1976 is the annual Kiwanis convention which will bring some 20,000 delegates here for a six-day stay. Lions International comes here in 1972 with 5,000 delegates and groups like the Associated General Contractors, with 4,500 delegates, and the Italian Catholic Federation of California, with 10,000, are scheduled in 1971.

This year some 16,000 bowlers of the California State Bowling Association were in San Diego over a six week period starting in April. Also picking San Diego were the Veterans of Foreign Wars, California Order of the Eastern Star, the 6,000-delegate National Electrical Contractors Association, and the League of California Cities, also with 6,000. The League's national organization — the National League of Cities—came last December with some of the top municipal officials in the nation.

It's not by accident that more and more conventions are coming to San Diego. First of all, more and more people are "discovering" San Diego.

It's getting harder and harder to think of the nation's 14th largest city as a sleepy Navy town near the Mexican border (which no visitor, once he's been here, could ever think again.)

When you're looking for conventions, you have to have some where for them to convene. A bit of foresight by city fathers early in the 1960's gave the city a giant convention center in the heart of downtown, with large meeting halls, an exhibit area, and a civic theater for both entertainment and business sessions.

A pedestrian view of the Community Concourse showing the City Administration Building and unique parking garage-Exhibit Hall. The complex was completed in January of 1965.

In addition, the El Cortez Hotel in downtown San Diego has an excellent convention center of its own and has been joined recently by Mission Valley's Town and Country Hotel which now has a modern convention hall.

Another factor, not unnoticed by convention planners, is that some 1,000 new hotel rooms a year have been constructed in San Diego during the past three years, and it'll continue at that rate at least through 1972.

Today San Diego has 23,000 motel rooms. Nearing completion are the Westgate Plaza Hotel downtown, a luxury hotel with 230 rooms; an addition to the Royal Inn at the Wharf that will bring its total to 500 rooms; and an addition of 200 rooms to Mission Bay's Islandia Hotel.

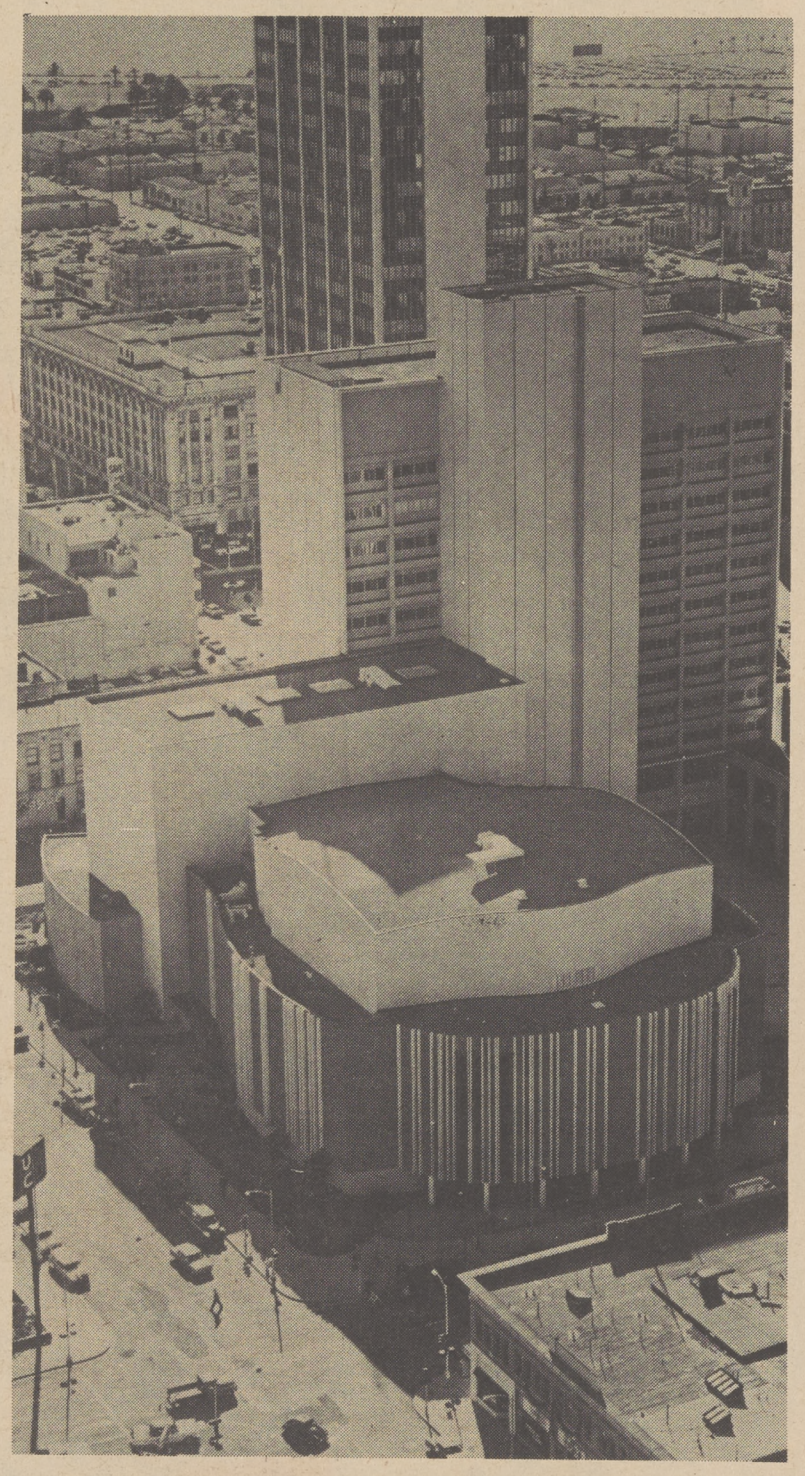
Also under construction, both in Harbor Island, are a 500-room Sheraton Hotel and a 204-room TraveLodge. Another TraveLodge is going up in Rancho Bernardo and the county's third Holiday Inn is being built at Oceanside.

With the building activity completed, San Diego will have 25,000 rooms.

San Diego's visitor business is no small thing. It rates as the county's third industry, behind industry and the military, and in 1969 accounted for $408 million spent here, with $59 million of that coming from convention delegates.

Thinking about coming to San Diego? Don't wait too much longer. The line keeps getting longer and longer.

(For convention information, contact the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau, 225 Broadway, San Diego, Calif. 92101. Phone 232-3101)



CULTURE'S HOME in San Diego is the $3 million Civic Center Theatre (foreground) in the $21.5 million Community Concourse in the heart of the downtown business district. In the background is the $4 million 14-story City Hall.

Not Number 1..... But We Try Harder

SAN DIEGO — If someone asked, you'd probaby say San Francisco was California's second largest city.

That's the way it once was, but in 1970 San Diego, with its 715,000 citizens, has taken the lead, outsized in the state only by Los Angeles.

A glance at San Diego shows a city larger in land area than some states and larger in population than most neighboring Western states.

More than 5,500 employees, operating under a budget approaching $120 million, keep San Diego functioning.

At the helm of it all is the city manager, who is selected by the mayor and city council. The manager is charged with running the day-to-day operations of the city with his professional staff while the mayor and council make policy decisions for the manager to follow.

One of the city's proudest accomplishments is its low crime rate, among the lowest in the nation. Yet the city also has one of the lower ratios of policemen to population anywhere in the country.

And, likewise, with its fire department, San Diego's outstanding system has earned it the lowest fire insurance rates available because of the department's fire prevention inspections and public education, extinguishing fires, investigating their causes, and prosecuting violators of fire prevention laws.

Another of San Diego's outstanding assets is its public parks system, including the giant 4,600 acre Mission Bay Park, the world-famous 1,400 acre Balboa Park with its zoo and numerous community parks located throughout the city's hundreds of square miles.

Fun Offered In Wide Variety

SAN DIEGO — Start yourself just anywhere. Point yourself in any direction. Then just go.

That advice won't work just anywhere, but it's pretty hard to miss when you're looking around for someplace to go or something to do in San Diego.

But if you still think you need some specific hints, try Balboa Park for a starter. Everyone's heard of the San Diego Zoo, and rightfully so. Within its 130 acres is the world's largest wild animal collection, some 4,500 animals exhibited in as natural a looking habitat as the zoo's many experts can produce.

Stroll around, or hop aboard a tour bus on a three-mile trip that takes in about 80 per cent of the zoo. And don't miss the new Skyfari that takes visitors over many of the wild animal exhibits.

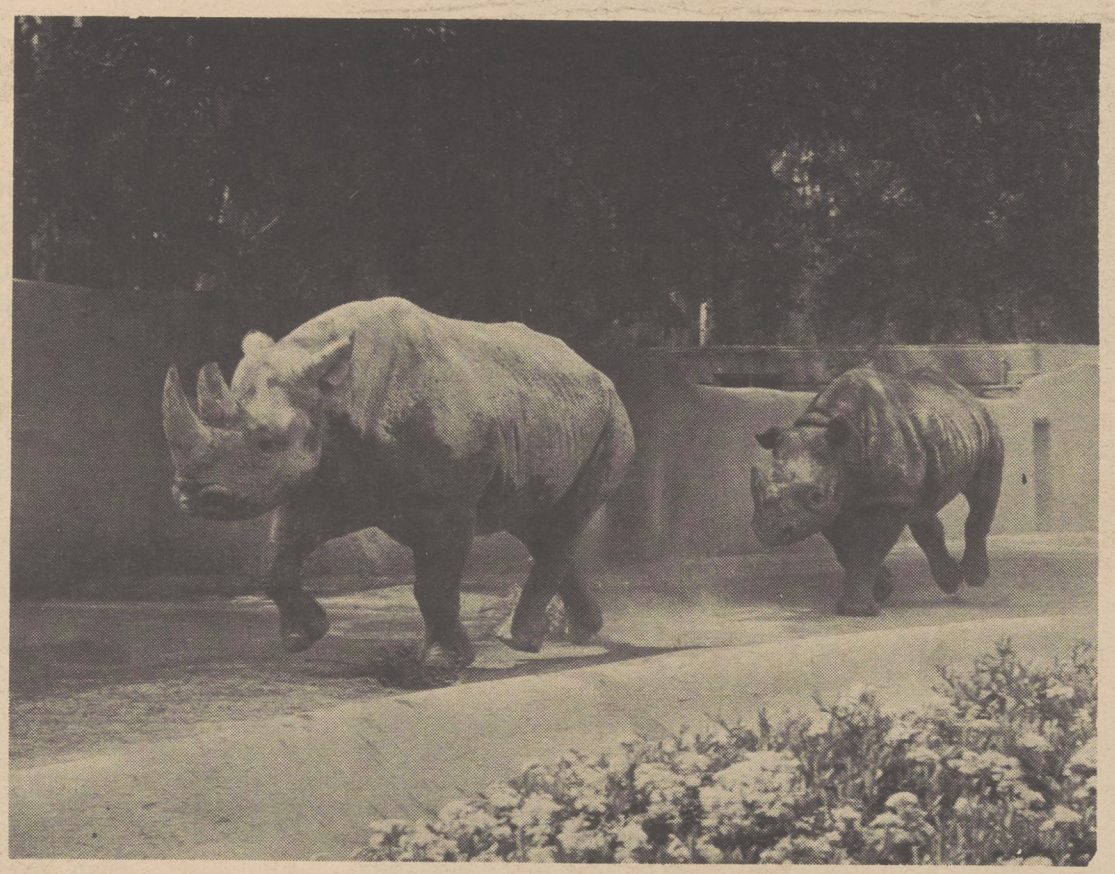
But the zoo isn't all there is to see at Balboa Park.

Old Globe

Don't forget the famous Old Globe Theater, one of the outstanding regional theaters in the United States. Annually it hosts the internationally-acclaimed National Shakespeare Festival from mid-June to mid-September.

And as you look around you'll find much more to Balboa Park's 1,400 acres, including the Museum of Man, one of the nation's outstanding aerospace museums, the Fine Arts Gallery, botanical gardens, and Hall of Champions.

"RUSTY," the San Diego Zoo's three- month-old giraffe, gets a loving nudge from mother "Freckles." The calf, who stood five feet, eight inches at birth and weighed 145 pounds, was born Feb. 19.



"SALLY" AND "LENNY," black rhinos at the San Diego Zoo, run the length of their separate areas for several months, Sally and Lenny were recently put in the same enclosure with the hope that the zoo's rhino population will increase.

And best of all—it's only minutes from most anyplace in San Diego, whether you're staying downtown, on Mission Bay, in Mission Valley, or at Harbor or Shelter Island.

In fact, Harbor and Shelter Islands, both manmade, are something to see themselves. A Polynesian atmosphere pervades throughout Shelter Island. It's hotels and restaurants have a casual, luxurious atmosphere.

At its westerly end you'll find a friendship bell, a symbol of the sister city relationship of San Diego and Yokohama, Japan.

Harbor Island

A journey to nearby Harbor Island, right across from the airport, provides an excellent view of the city and the harbor, and a good look at much of the Navy's fleet that's based in San Diego.

And of course you won't want to pass up the Reuben E. Lee, a recreated sternwheeler from days past that houses two fine restaurants. Elsewhere on the island are some of San Diego's newest and finest hotels and eating places.

But before you leave the area, wind your way up to the Cabrillo National Monument, the most-visited national monument in the nation (even more people than the Statue of Liberty.) Here you, and more than a million others each year, can see the old Spanish lighthouse and a spectacular view of the city and Mexico to the south.

Only a couple miles away is Mission Bay Park, a city-owned aquatic park that houses Sea World, six hotels, three marinas, two golf courses, and 27 miles of beaches. Name a water sport and you'll find it here.

The Beaches

Travel on north, through the ocean communities of Mission and Pacific Beach, and you reach La Jolla, "the jewel."

And how apt a description it is. Its colorful coastline, village atmosphere, and exclusive shops make it a must for any visitor's list of things to see. And not surprisingly, some never leave, overcome by its charm.

While La Jolla once was thought of mostly as a playground for the wealthy, today it takes on a new importance as one of the leading scientific and educational centers of the nation with the University of California campus, Scripps Institution of Oceanography, and prestigious Salk Institute for Biological Studies.

As you travel back toward downtown, stop in at Old Town, the place that San Diego — and California — began. Many of the buildings have been restored to look the way they did 200 years ago. You'll also find several delightful Mexican restaurants and numerous small shops.

Mexican Border

Presidio Park where the first of the missions was founded in 1769.

But maybe you've seen enough of San Diego for a while (even though you've barely started.) Less than 20 miles away you can be in a whole new world, literally. If you've never been South of the border, now's the time to start.

If you're just going over for the day (or no more than three) to Tijuana or Ensenada, no passports are required (but Mexican auto insurance is strongly recommended.)

Once there, head for the hundreds of craft shops, the racetrack (horses and greyhounds), jai alai, or the bullfights. Most Mexicans you'll deal with speak English and it's a part of your stay you just can't miss.

After your Mexican tour, dash back to this side of the border for a quick look at some of the things outside of central San Diego, like the 460,000 acre Anza-Borrego State Park, just 90 miles away.

In season there are colorful wild flowers—more than 500 kinds—to see and there's plenty of camping and hiking to be done any time of the year.

Nearby are the mountains which also have camping facilities at the Cuyamaca Ranch State Park or the Laguna Mountain Recreation area.

Nestled atop Mount Palomar is the world-famed Palomar Observatory, the home of the world's largest telescope.

There's more, still, to San Diego—70 miles of beaches, deep sea fishing, 60 golf courses, but with this list of starters you're on your way. As you travel, you'll discover the rest.

This park is situated on a high bluff overlooking the Pacific shoreline far below. The 300-foot cliffs and regular 10-15 m.p.h. winds facilitate longsustained sailplane flying.

It's Expo time On June 24th

DEL MAR — The nation's largest horse show, the West's biggest flower show, and a whole lot more are coming here June 24 when the 1970 Southern California Exposition swings open its gates.

Popular ballad singer Glenn Yarbrough headlines the evening shows for the first six days, then he'll turn the stage over to Western sweetheart Judy Lynn with her country band and $75,000 wardrobe.

"In keeping with our position as the eighth largest exposition in the West and the third largest in California, our goal is to provide the widest array of entertainment possible for the whole family to enjoy," said Mick O'Connor, expo manager.

New on the exposition grounds this year will be a model of the Apollo 11 space ship which landed men on the moon. Also planned is the $700,000 Faces of Freedom oil painting exhibit from the John Hancock Insurance Co. and a completely furnished old time railroad depot furnished by the Santa Fe Railroad.

For the past 21 years the official host and symbol of the Del Mar show has been Tommy Hernandez, and he'll be back again to share duties with the girl crowned Fairest of the Fair. This year's theme is Days of Don Diego and a feature display in the Exhibit Hall will depict the theme as well as recognize San Diego County as the "flower basket of the nation."

More than 35,000 entries are expected in the various divisions of the Exposition to compete for ribbons, trophies and $137,000 in cash and premiums.

where the FUN shines!
JUDY LYNN, Country-Western singing star, and her band will take the spotlight on the grandstand stage June 30 through July 5—final six nights of the Expo. Great entertainment for the whole family. In the afternoons the same six days there's an exciting championship rodeo, which like Judy's show is free to fairgoers.
GLENN YARBROUGH, premier American balladeer, brings his vocal magic to the grandstand stage June 24-29, the first six nights of the Expo. In the afternoons, June 24-29, San Diego's own "Swinging Ambassadors" hold forth on the grandstand. Both shows are free to Expo Visitors. Although noted for his folksinging, Glenn can and does vocalize any song he finds meaning in—from "Frankie and Johnny" to "Baby the Rain Must Fall."
POPULAR TOM HERNANDEZ, the Expo's Don Diego, returns (as he always does) to play host to 400,000 Fairgoers during the 12-day run. With him, as usual, will be the Expo's lovely Fairest of the Fair. It will be Tom's 22nd year as Don Diego.
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EXPOSITION
DEL MAR JUNE 24-JULY 5

FAIREST OF THE FAIR—A lovely new queen will be selected this month to reign along with Don Diego over the annual Southern California Exposition to be held at the Del Mar Fair Grounds June 24 through July 5. Carolee Meachum, Miss El Cajon, (above) was selected over 24 other local beauty queens last year for the honors that went with the title of Miss Fairest of the Fair.

One of San Diego's prettiest parks is the Torrey Pines State Reserve north of La Jolla. Some of the world's rarest trees, the Torrey Pines, stand there on cliffs overlooking the ocean. Take Interstate 5 to La Jolla and watch for the signs. The park has picnicking and hiking facilities and a beach area.

Mission Bay Park Entices Visitors

MISSION BAY—No one can blame Cabrillo for overlooking Mission Bay back in 1542. When he discovered what is now San Diego, it wasn't too exciting a thing to look at—just acres and acres of mudflats and marshland.

But you'll blame yourself when you "discover" San Diego if one of your first explorations isn't Mission Bay Park.

For new generation San Diegans—and that's what most San Diegans are, it's hard to remember Mission Bay as anything but 4,600 acres of dazzling blue water, distinctive hotels, and the finest places in the word to sail, ski, and fish.

Only seven freeway minutes from downtown, Mission Bay has been transformed from the mudflats of old into an aquatic showcase that took 20 years and more than $100 million to build, and there's more yet.

Literally millions of visitors scramble to Mission Bay every year to enjoy its sailing, power boating, swimming, picnicking, fishing, water skiing, sunbathing, golfing, and much, much more. Within a short time they find that Mission Bay is a vacation in itself.

Even though Mission Bay is a park filled with outdoor life, it's not a bad place to be at night, either. Cuisine at its six hotels ranges from continental to Oriental, and decor varies from the nautical to luxurious Greek.

After dark name entertainers perform, one hotel offers authentic Middle Eastern belly dancers, and a romantic sternwheeler chugs through the bay, offering cocktails and dancing during 90-minute moonlit cruises.

In the daytime there are some big name performers, too — like Shamu the Killer Whale, who performs daily at Sea World, or Google the Great, the world's only trained elephant seal.

The 70-acre "park within a park" also has a fleet of hydrofoil boats for rides on Mission Bay, a fabulous over-water skyride, and the new Sky Tower that reaches 270 feet up.

Bringing your boat to Mission Bay is no problem. Three marinas are waiting to serve you, as well as docks at most of the hotels. You'll find that bringing your trailer isn't a problem any longer—not since the addition of Campland where you can stay for as little as $4.50 a night, right at the water's edge.

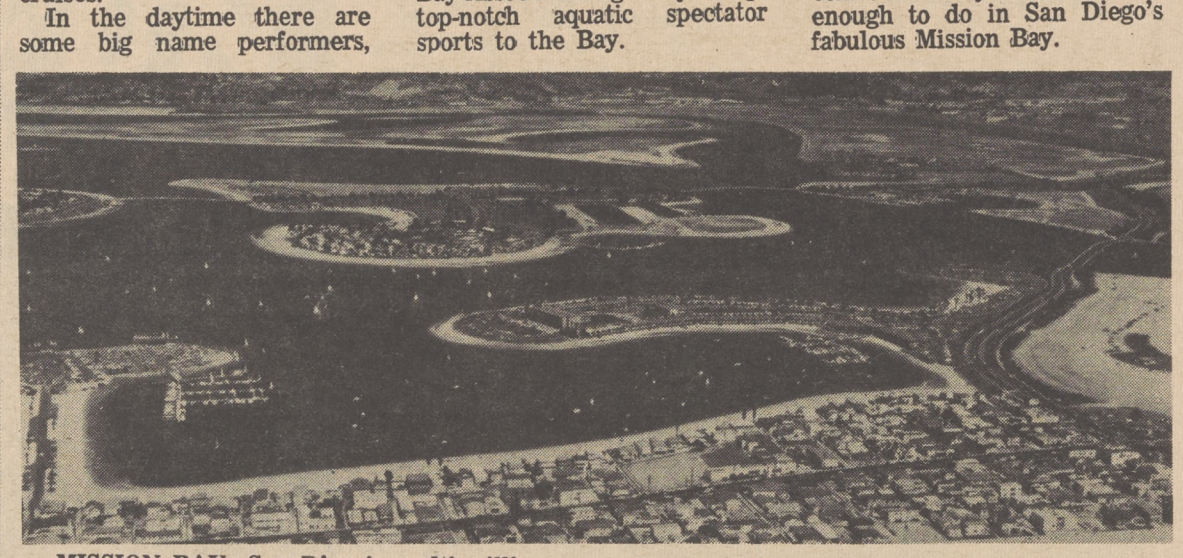
And just to keep Mission Bay active and alive, a private, non-profit group called Mission Bay Associates regularly brings top-notch aquatic spectator sports to the Bay.

For the second year in a row San Diego will be the site of the Gold Cup Race, the number one event in hydroplane racing. Once again this September the "thunderboats" will race around Mission Bay's championship course, sending their roostertails high in the air behind them.

During other parts of the year Mission Bay Associates host a collegiate rowing regatta, sailboat races, water ski meets, and other aquatic events.

Even today Mission Bay, which is owned by the City of San Diego, isn't through. Only about three-fourths of the development is complete, with even more free public facilities planned in the near future.

But don't wait for everything to be ready before you come. No one yet couldn't find enough to do in San Diego's fabulous Mission Bay.



MISSION BAY: San Diego's multi-million dollar aquatic park offers a world of water fun. The park, encompassing 4,600 acres of land and water area and 27 miles of shoreline, provides recreational facilities for fishing, boating, water skiing, sailing, swimming, picnicking, and almost every type of water sport.

Sea Fantasy Featured

MISSION BAY PARK—It's been only six years since Sea World opened its doors in Mission Bay Park, but nearly every list of things to see in San Diego include a stop at this aquatic wonderland.

Nearly seven million people have wandered through the park's 70 acres . . . watching everything from the hilarious and exciting show with Shamu, the killer whale, to the famous underwater show that has beautiful Sea Maids, dolphins, seals — and even a cormorant—all in the act together.

Once you're there, Sea World's an all-day experience. In addition to that underwater show, which is performed in an immense 160,000 gallon tank, there's the water fantasy — the world's largest and most sophisticated indoor-lighted and orchestrated fountain display. Its special feature is the "Sea World Symphony", an outstanding group you won't want to miss.

In the seal and penguin arena you'll find sea lions who get "married," a roller-skating penguin, piano-playing ducks and a one-ton elephant seal—the only one like him ever trained to perform.

A visit to the Japanese Village, which was made in Japan and shipped to Sea World, gets you ready to watch the famed Ama girls who dive for pearl-bearing oysters. You'll also see Japanese Kabuki dancers performing on a floating stage and a tea house, gardens, ponds, and pearl shops.

The longest overwater skyride in the country gives you an exciting view of the rest of Mission Bay and a good look at Sea World from 100 feet up. From your gondola you'll take an eight minute ride that actually takes you somewhere — to Sea World's unique Atlantis restaurant.

Nearly every seat at the Atlantis has a panoramic view of Mission Bay and there's also a cocktail lounge with large aquarium tanks featuring rare tropical fish and sea anemones.

Once you're back on your way to Sea World proper you'll notice the hydrofoils—the only commercially-operated fleet of the "flying boats" on the west coast. Three boats carry 28 passengers each for thrilling rides around Mission Bay.

If you're still ready for more, there's the 320-foot skytower that carries 62 persons in a two-tiered capsule. The capsule rotates as it rises and descends—offering a view of much of the San Diego skyline, the ocean, and La Jolla to the north.

That's not all there is to Sea World. You'll have to come and find the rest for yourself.

RIDE 'EM WHALEBOY . . . At Sea World, the 70-acre marine entertainment park in San Diego, Trainer Jim Richards demonstrates technique of riding a killer whale. Shamu the killer whale, the world's first performing killer whale, is more than 16 feet long and weighs in excess of 4,000 pounds. She takes her trainer for a ride daily during her show at Sea World.

Shopping Centers Everywhere

SAN DIEGO—Shopping centers—they're everywhere.

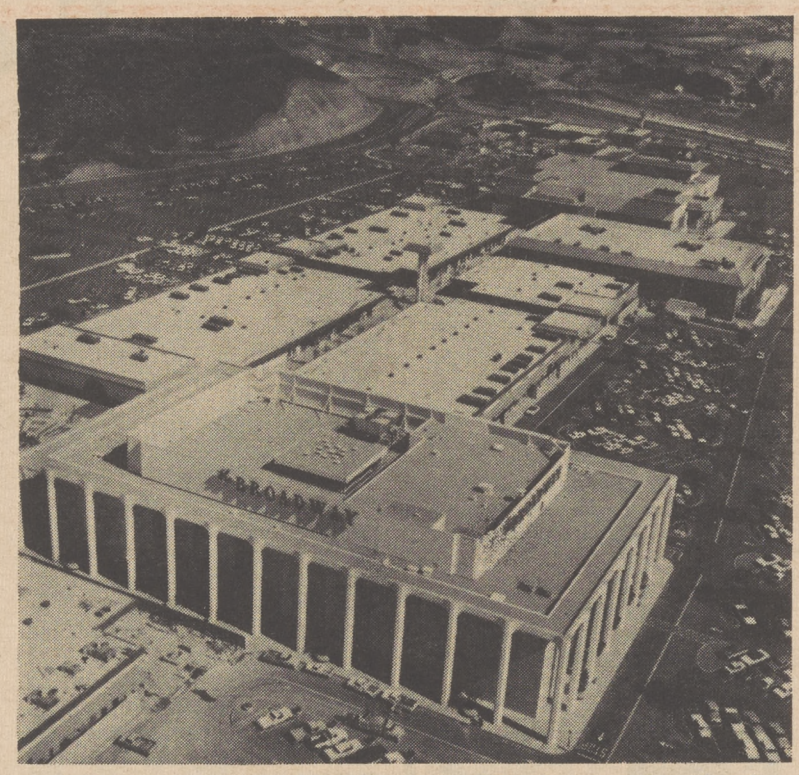
You name it and undoubtedly you can buy it somewhere in San Diego County at one of the 10 regional shopping centers, 17 community centers, or one of the 39 neighborhood centers.

It's hard to know where to start, but San Diego's two giant shopping complexes are located right in the heart of Mission Valley. One, appropriately enough, is the Mission Valley Shopping Center with 68 stores and 1,100,000 square feet of retail space—plus free parking for 6,500 cars.

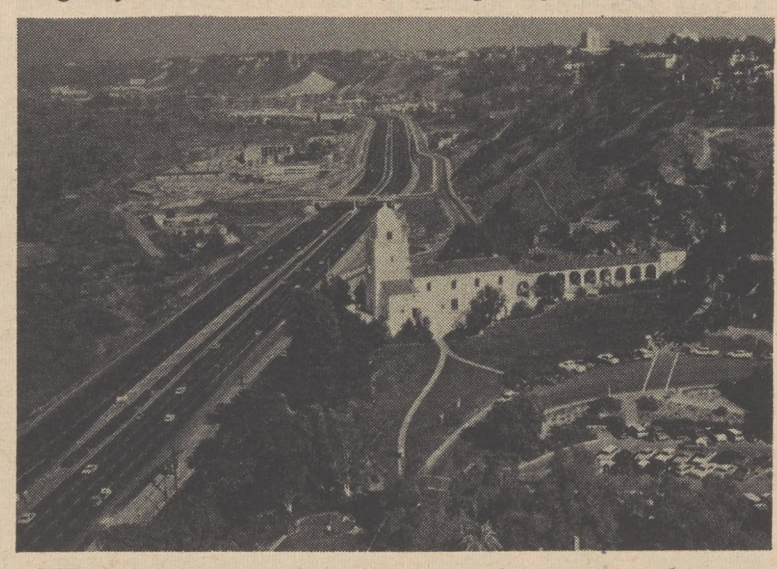
Less than a mile away is the new and exclusive Fashion Valley Center which has 80 stores and free parking for 6,500 cars. Between the two centers you'll find such shopping delights as The Broadway, May Company, Buffums, Robinsons, Montgomery Ward, J. J. Newberry, Joseph Magnin, Grodin's and Woolworth's.

San Diego's other eight largest centers are the Chula Vista Shopping Center, College Grove Center, El Cajon Plaza Shopping Center, Escondido Village Shopping Center, Grossmont Center, Plaza Camino Real, South Bay Plaza Shopping Center, and San Diego's downtown section which has 900 retail stores.

An example of the community coverage shopping centers provide can be found in San Diego's North Shores area where beach residents have a choice of six centers within a five mile radius. Shoppers can find nearly any of their daily needs at the Pacific Plaza, Clairemont Quad and Square, Balboa Mesa Center, Diane Center or the Big Apple complex.



FASHION VALLEY CENTER—San Diego's newest regional shopping center, Fashion Valley, opened late last year and consists of over 80 stores. The $50 million, 80 acre complex, located in Mission Valley at Friars Road intersection with Highway 395 and Interstate 8, developed by Westgate-Hahn.



SERRA MUSEUM in San Diego's Presidio Park marks the setting of Father Junipero Serra's arrival in San Diego to establish the first California mission, initial link in a chain which grew to be 21 missions from San Diego to Sonoma. The park is located at the west entrance of Mission Valley.

Padres Take Town

By JOHN E. WIRGES

Big time sports is big business and in San Diego, business is better than ever. Great promise stands on the horizon in player development, attendance is on the up-swing and team support is evident in daily conversations.

Everybody is talking about the Padres, Chargers, Rockets, Gulls, Aztecs, big time golf, Gold Cup racing and the upsurge in boxing offered weekly at the rejuvinated Coliseum.

Great sports of the country come to San Diego.

The San Diego Padres are a shining example of the brightness lighting up the local sports scene. Under the baseball experience and wisdom of president/co-owner E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi, the Padres selected expansion players with an eye for the future when the team came into being last year.

In their first season, the Padres won but 52 games, but they developed some of the best young arms in the game and offered valuable experince to up and coming young players who have a chance for a "greatness" label in the National League.

Young pitchers like Clay Kirby, "you have to be good to lose 20 games," says his coach Roger Craig, and Al Santorini (8-14 as a 20 year old) carry the future in their strong right arms. The staff was greatly enriched with the addition of Pat Dobson from Detroit and Ron Herbel from San Francisco in a pair of trades that make Bavasi a likely candidate for the James gang.

Dave Roberts is over his arm miseries and portsiding his way to stardom from the bullpen. His ERA is somewhere down around one-point-dip-zip and he has made enough appearances to threaten for "fireman of the year" honors.

Any outfield that includes Ollie Brown, Clarence Gaston, Al "the Bull" Ferrara, Ivan Murrell and Jerry Morales has to be rated with the best on defense, knowledge and sock.

The big change comes in the Padre infield where Steve Huntz anchors at third, Tommy Dean scoops 'em in at short, Dave Campbell toughs it out at second and Nate Colbert gives his all at first. The second year team actually led the league in twin killings for a while earlier in the season. Defense has arrived.

Bench strength comes from Ed Spiezio, who hits right with power, Van Kelly, who goes the other with equal power and Ron Slocum, who plays eight positions, including the one behind the plate.

Chris Cannizzaro and Bob Barton handle the catching chores and could furnish a 280-plus average from that position. Slocum is rated one of the finest glove men in the game, and his game is everywhere.

Bavasi, his manager Preston Gomez, and his coaches, Dave Garcia, Bob Skinner, Roger Craig and Whitey Wietelmann, have the base and part of the structure that will someday be unveiled as the National League Champions. Unlike any other expansion club, with Bavasi and the Padres, it's only a matter of time.

Can an automatic transmission, from Muncie, Indiana, find happiness in San Diego?

It can if it's in a Datsun.

- San Diegans know Datsun is the best import value going — and now a specially designed (just for Datsun) American automatic makes the going smoother, easier than before.
- The Datsun Automatic has three smooth speeds.
- It's mounted on the steering column where you can see it.
- It's American-made (Muncie, Indiana) to match our 96 horsepower overhead cam engine (standard equipment).
- It's available on a roomy four-door, sporty two-door and four-door wagons. What else, you ask?
- How about front disc brakes, fully independent rear suspension, bucket seats, all vinyl upholstery, 5-main-bearing engine, flow-thru fresh air system, whitewalls! Loads of extras at no extra cost!
- You can find happiness in a Datsun Automatic plus power, performance and economy.
- Let us prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that THE SOUND MOVE IS TO . ..

Drive a Datsun, then decide . . . its a sound move.

Chargers Face Early Tests

When the AFL and NFL merged last year the schedule makers didn't leave the San Diego Chargers any time to test the water.

The Chargers go head first into the toughest schedule they've ever played next fall when their first seven regular season games feature the Baltimore Colts, Oakland Raiders, Los Angeles Rams, Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears, Houston Oilers and Cleveland Browns.

To compound the rugged nature of the regular season the Chargers face on consecutive pre-season Sunday's the Dallas Cowboys, New York Giants, Chicago Bears, Los Angeles Rams, St. Louis Cardinals and New Orleans Saints.

Head Coach Charlie Waller, beginning his first full season as head man, greeted the schedule bluntly: "We've got to be good quick."

VIEW FROM ON HIGH—The San Diego Padres play their National League games in San Diego Stadium. This view is from the press tier, located near top of city-owned facility.

Waller took the Charger reins near the end of the '69 season after Sid Gillman was forced into coaching retirement for medical reasons. Waller, who assumed leadership November 10, finished the remaining games with four straight wins, after an initial loss to Oakland.

Gillman, the Chargers only coach the Chargers ever had, performed double duty as general manager and coach for 10 years. He remains with the club as general manager.

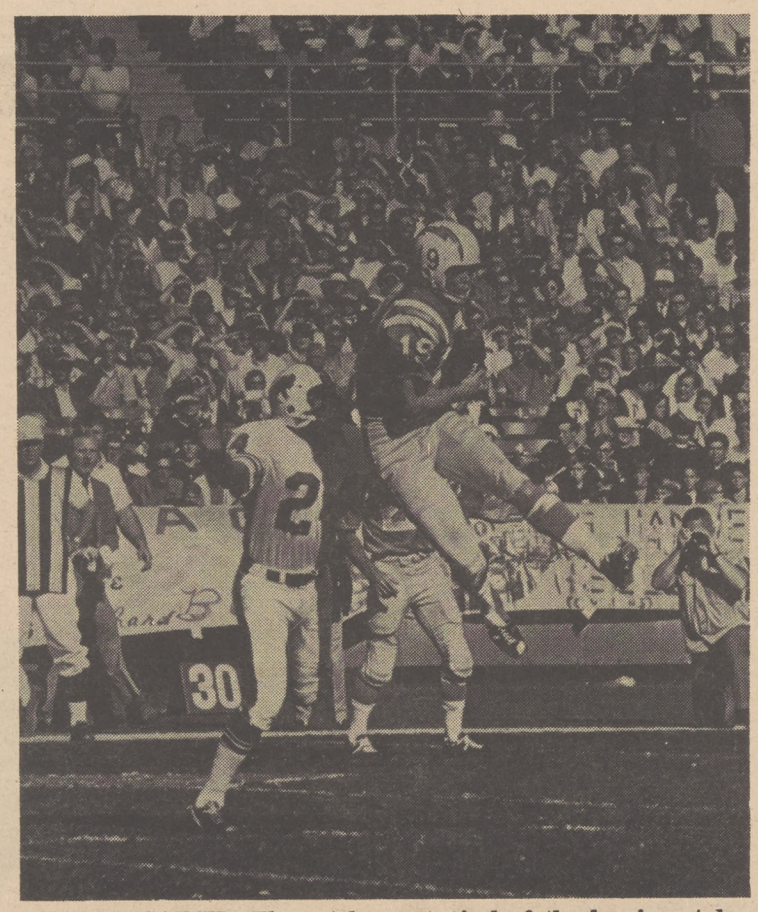
Waller has plenty of talent to direct as the Chargers rebound from a Western Division third place finish with an 8-6 record.

Heading the list of Charger notables are several top AFL performers including AFL leading pass receiver Lance Alworth, and the league's leading rusher, Dick Post.

Alworth, with 64 pass receptions in '69 good for over 1,000 yards, is aided in the passing attacks by equally fleet Gary Garrison, who, in spite of injuries, caught 40 aerials last year.

On the running ledger the Chargers, second last year in team rushing behind Kansas City, feature 5-9 scat back Post, who scampered for nearly 900 yards last fall to lead the club for the third straight year.

Throwing to Alworth and Garrison and handing off to Post is nine-year veteran John Hadl. Hadl, directing the Charger advances from the quarterback spot, completed 158 passes for 2253 yards in '69 while leading the league in lowest percentage of interceptions (3.4).



RECORD CATCH—The catch was typical of the leaping style of Lance Alworth, all-pro wide receiver of the San Diego Chargers. The occasion was extra special. It was the 96th consecutive game in which Alworth had caught a pass to break the record held by Don Hutson. Play went for nine yards against the Buffalo Bills and defender Butch Byrd in final game of 1969 season.

The '70 season will welcome the return of linebacker Bob Babich, who missed nearly the entire '69 year with a knee injury. The talented "rookie" will augment the likes of Jeff Staggs, Rick Redman and Pete Barnes in the linebacker corps.

New faces in the Charger locker room include first round draft choice Walker Gillete, a wide receiver from Richmond, second pick Tom Williams, a defensive end from Cal Davis, and third selection Bill Maddox, a tight-end from Syracuse.

Lights are burning late in Charger offices even now as Waller and his staff prepare to open camp in July. Ahead of them lies the most severe test in the club's 11-year history.

Come August 8, when the Cowboys ride herd into San Diego Stadium for the pre-season opener, the "legend of the lightning bolt" will enter a new phase. Combat with the NFL, long awaited by AFL teams, will begin.

Aztecs No. 1

A year ago the San Diego State College football Aztecs had only five returning starters. Head Coach Don Coryell was worried.

He worried so much the Aztecs breezed through an 11-game schedule undefeated, including a post season 28-7 Pasadena Bowl victory over Boston University.

In the process of producing a third unbeaten season in four years the Aztecs shattered 18 NCAA major college records and 37 school standards.

Behind the deft passing of quarterback Dennis Shaw (now the property of the Buffalo Bills) the Aztecs led every major college in the nation in total offense (5322 yards), passing offense (374 yards per game) and scoring (46.4 points per game).

In winning 11 games in '69 Coryell ran his impressive nine-year record at San Diego State to 79 wins, 11 losses and two ties. The Aztecs haven't lost since near the end of '67, when they saw a 25-game win streak ended. Since then they have gone unbeaten in 22 straight games, including one tie in '68.

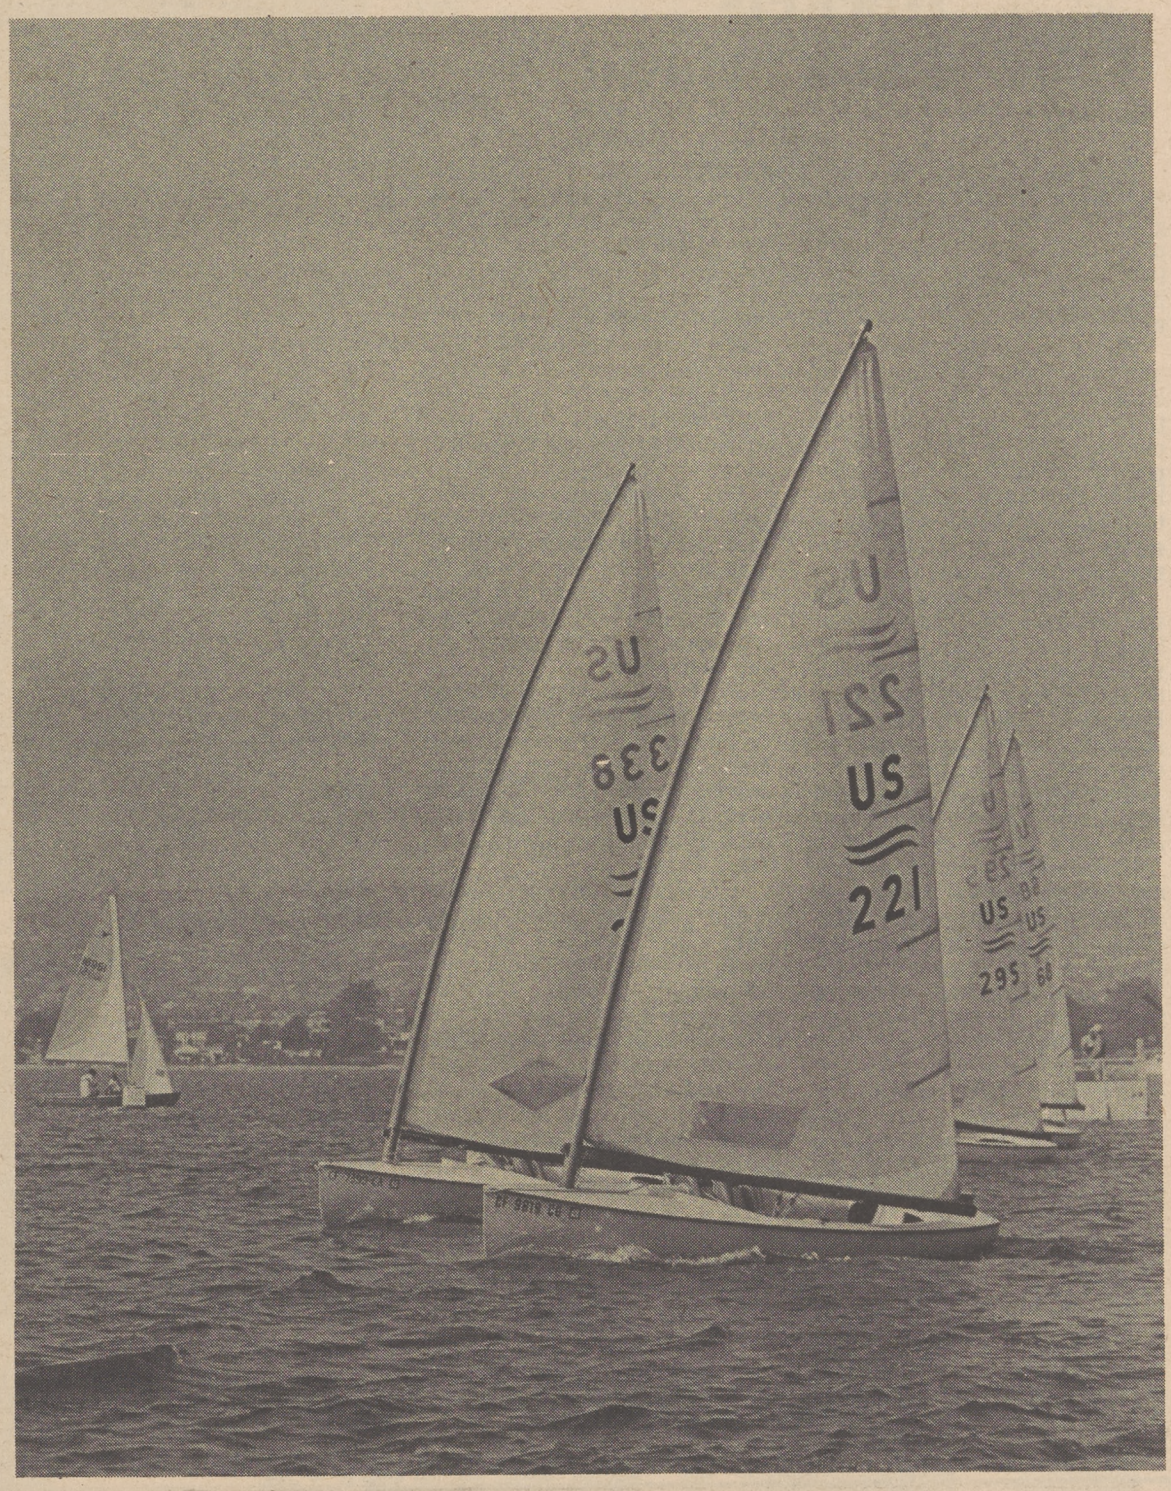
Looking to '70 Coryell is "worried" again. The schedule is tougher as the Aztecs stride toward national recognition. Iowa State, Brigham Young and North Texas State enter the scene this year, along with Southern Mississippi, San Jose, Fresno State, Northern Illinois and UOP.

Any coach would worry at the thought of replacing Shaw. Anxiety is lessened, however, when the returning crop of receivers is considered. Leading the corps is wide receiver All-American candidate Tom Reynolds who caught 18 touchdown passes in just eight games last year, a new NCAA record.

To complement Reynolds the Aztecs have tight-end Tim Delaney who caught 85 passes for over 1200 yards and 14 touchdowns in '69, including six TD's in one game, also a record.

San Diego State also has several returning offensive starters and a veteran defense nearly untouched by graduation. The warm autumn nights in beautiful San Diego Stadium should once again witness the further elevation of San Diego State football into the national spotlight.

That Coach Coryell is "worried" is a good sign. That's his style. And his style is winning.



SAILING IS POPULAR—Sailboats of all design and classification can be seen in the San Diego area on almost any day of the year. Here we have boats of the Finn Class in a race that covers a course in bay water and the ocean.

Auto Racing Gains

Auto racing attracts nearly 1,000 active participants from the San Diego area, and more than 20,000 spectators at nearby professional events.

Three tracks operate locally and three others, which feature "major league" professional racing, are within a two hour drive of San Diego. Carlsbad Raceway in Carlsbad is the local site of drag meets nearly every weekend with machines ranging from 220 m.p.h. AA/Fuel "rails," to race what - you - brought daily transportation cars.

Cajon Speedway in Santee promotes weekly stock car races with equipment similar to the NASCAR "Sportsman" type of racers. Also running at Cajon are Mini Stocks (foreign made sedans) and Figure 8 cars. South Bay Speedway in the San Ysidro area has Super Modified sprint car races each Saturday during the summer months.

Major races are held at Riverside International Raceway and Orange County International Raceway to the north of San Diego. Ontario Motor Speedway, located a few miles from OCIR, is a $25.5-million dollar facility scheduled for completion in the late summer.

Other San Diego competition includes slaloms (autocross) events on local parking lots, weekly navigational-type rallyes, motorcycle events, and the Baja 1000 and Baja 500 offroad races in nearby Mexico.

Coming into town on Interstate 5? Watch for San Diego's new visitor information center in Mission Bay Park, just off the freeway. It's easy to reach and designed just for you, whether you need hotel reservations, a restaurant guide or a map to see where you're headed. Also, there is a gift shop and a snack bar and a tower that puts you up high enough to see San Diego's fabulous Mission Bay.

San Diego was discovered by Juan Rodriquez Cabrillo in 1542. Cabrillo, a Portuguese navigator in the service of Spain, claimed all of California for Spain. It wasn't until 1769 when the first mission was established at Presidio Hill that San Diego considered itself "born." The city celebrated its 200th anniversary last year with a year-long round of festivities.

Rockets Look Ahead

The cage fan gets his fill in San Diego. Hoops are hung on garages, in back yards and on poles in open fields. Court action is part of the scene, indoors and out, winter and summer.

The boon in basketball popularity arrived with the franchise putting San Diego in the National Basketball Association. Each summer Rocket players go into the neighborhoods and teach basketball to thousands of youngsters in a series of clinics, stretched to match school vacation time.

With the coming of fall, the war in sneakers returns to the Sports Arena. The great and near-great of the NBA come to do battle with Alex Hannum's Rockets. As with all wars, some battles are monumental. One such clash turned on a 17-foot jump shot by guard Stu Lantz against San Francisco with :06 on the clock.

His shot tied it up and the overtime period saw the lead change each time the ball changed hands. The Warriors finally pulled it out 126-125 for one of their two wins over the Rockets in seven meetings of the year.

Lantz will be joined in the back court next season by former Celtic star Larry Siegfried who came from Boston via the expansion draft through a Portland pick. Jim Barnett was received in full payment for the fiesty Siegfried by Oregon's entry in the NBA.

Rookie holdover Bernie Williams and second round draft selection Calvin Murphy offer Rocket Coach Alex Hannum back court quality bench strength.

The Big "E" will be starting his third season at center for Hannum's horde. Elvin Hayes led the NBA in rebounds last campaign recording 1386 boards for a 16.9 average. With the outside shooting of Siegfried and Murphy forcing opposing players to play Hayes honest, the Big E should have some fun in the upcoming season.

The Rockets got the second pick of the college draft and took forward Rudy Tomjanovich, 6-8, of Michigan. Rudy T. averaged 25.1 points per game and picked off an average 14.4 rebounds over 72 games for the Wolverines.

He'll battle for a starting berth with fellow rookie Curtis Perry, (6-7, from Southwest Missouri, 20 points average scoring and 15 rebounds over 82 games) and holdovers John Block, Toby Kimball and John Trapp.

The Rockets appear to have speed, depth, youth mixed with experience and, as rated most necessary, excellent overall height. Coach Hannum will open his first Rocket rookie camp in June, his first Rocket pre-season camp in September and assures one and all his chargers will be in playing shape before the season gets underway.

After finishing last in the NBA's West last season and worse overall in the league, there is nowhere for the Rockets to go but up. With the expansion draft and trades Sports Arena, it looks like changing faces around the they may make a playoff jump in one season.

HOISTING A MARLIN at the end of the day means a successful trip for the returning sportsfisherman in San Diego. Often at sunset, abundant catches of this magnificent fighting fish can be seen in front of the Marlin Club on San Diego Bay. The offshore waters yeilding marlin, yellowtail, albacore and blue fin tuna draw sportsmen to this area from throughout the nation.

Gulls Grip 'Em

From an expansion team to a title contender in four seasons, that's the history of the San Diego Gulls. A brighter history and future would be hard to find anywhere in the sports world.

The Gulls have blossomed from owner Bob Brietbard's dream into one of professional hockey's most successful franchises in a shorter span than anyone dared anticipate.

Playing in the sparkling San Diego International Sports Arena, the Gulls lead the Western Hockey in attendance the first three years of their existence. They were close to the top again this year, but for a phenomenal Vancouver club, a club that enters the National Hockey League in '70, the Gulls would have pulled it off at the gate again.

Ironically, it was the same Vancouver Canucks who ended the season for the Gulls. Making a playoff berth for the third consecutive year the Gulls had the unfortunate luck of drawing the Canucks in the playoff's opening round. Valiantly the San Diego skaters nursed the series to six thrilling games before they were overpowered by the most powerful team ever to play in the WHL.

It was the third year in a row the Gulls had played to stirring losses in the playoffs. Twice before they had run the Portland Buckaroos to the seven game limit, once even into overtime, before losing heartbreakers.

Still, the '69-70 year can be counted a success for a number of reasons. The Gulls placed two members on the exclusive WHL All-Star team. Left-winger Len Ronson became the league's leading goal scorer with a commendable 51-goal performance, and was, as a result, voted by the league's players to the All-Star first team where he joined San Diego goalie Jack McCartan, also a first honor-roller.

The future looks good for general-manager and coach Max McNab and his Gulls. They head for their off-season pursuits knowing they have once again contributed greatly to the sports image of San Diego.

The love affair between the hockey fans of the Southland and the San Diego Gulls, one of sport's sweetest romances, will resume again in October.

Easily the largest city in San Diego County is San Diego itself with an estimated 711,600 residents. Next largest is Chula Vista with about 66,700, followed by El Cajon with 51,100. The county's total population is about 1,400,000.

San Diego County ranked among the top 20 counties in the nation in 1969 in dollar value of agricultural production. Agriculture accounted for $146 million in sales, up $17 million from 1968. The biggest item in 1969, accounting for almost $61 million in sales, was dairy products and livestock.

Visitor expenditures in San Diego last year totaled some $408 million dollars. Included in that figure is $108 million spent by Mexican visitors.

Race Fans Galore

The racing fan, auto, boat or horse, all have their moments in San Diego.

Cajon Speedway accepted its millionth paying customer last month and is setting new attendance records every time the gates open. More than 100 cars line up at the pits for qualifying each Friday night. Purses are getting to giant size and are attracting some of the best known drivers in the southwest to the 3/8th oval track.

Horse racing comes in two sizes. Major racing visits San Diego July until September at handsome Del Mar, the famed "Turf meets the surf" track.

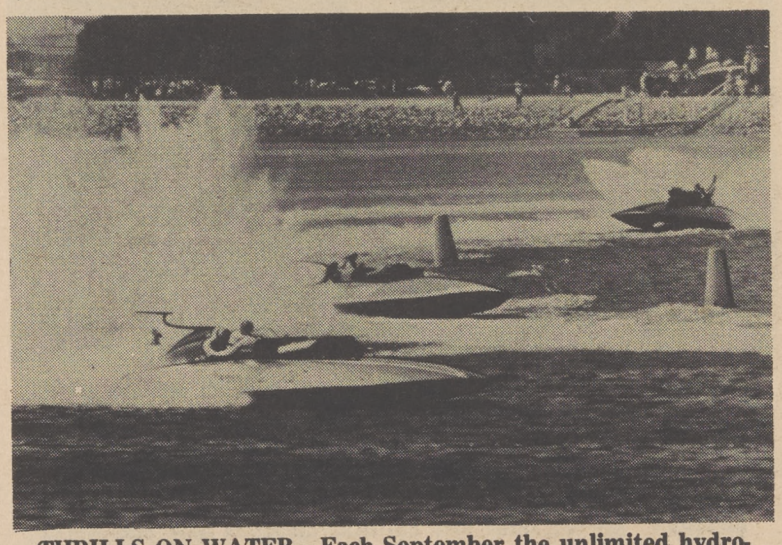
Some 20 major stakes races are scheduled this season with more than $500,000 up for prizes, including the $30,000 added Del Mar Derby, the $40,000 added Del Mar Debutant, the $50,000 Del Mar Handicap and the $60,000 Del Mar Futurity.

Weekend racing is available year 'round just across the border in Old Tijuana at Agua Caliente. Dog racing is also available five nights per week during the summer and on weekends during the winter at the Mexican track.

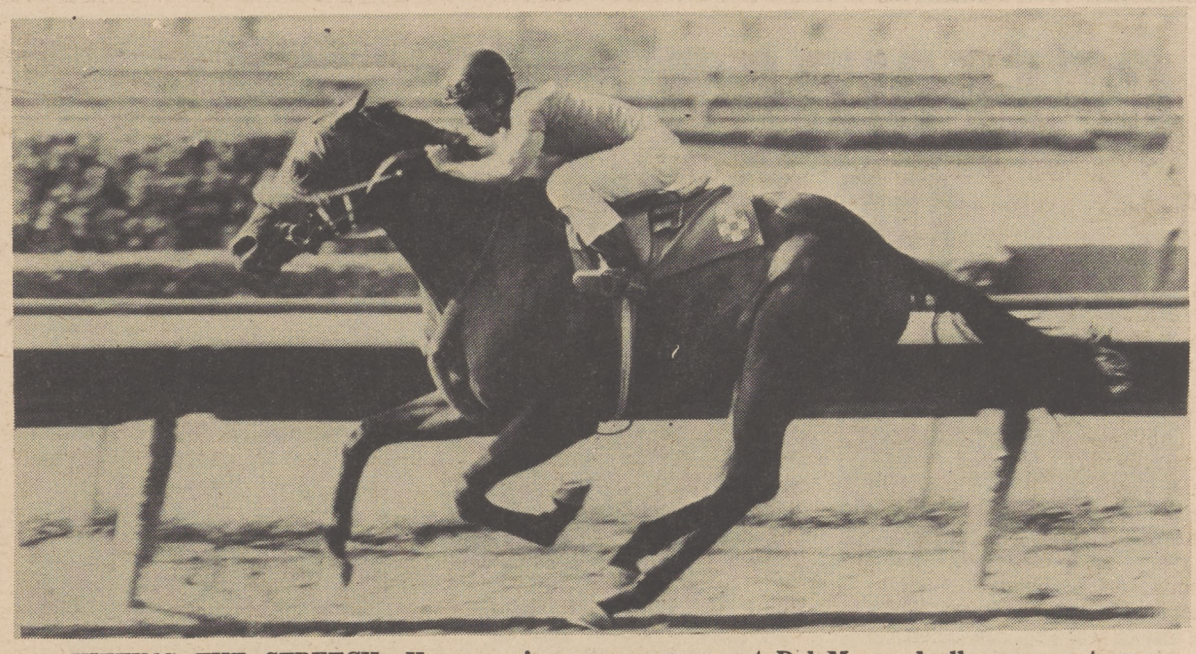
The "Thunderboats" come to San Diego's Mission Bay for the most prestigious Hydroplane event of the Year, The "Gold Cup," in late September.

World records are nearly always set when the hydros test the 2½ mile Mission Bay course. Thousands line Mission shore when these swift wave skippers are urged to better and faster times. The soft sloping bottom of the bay allows the hydro created chop to settle before they each pass and higher speeds are the boatmen's mark each time out.

The biggest, the most, the best of almost everything are home ported in San Diego. Visitors love it. Most come back. San Diegans love it. Most never leave. Ask any former San Diegan . . . that is, if you can find one.



THRILLS ON WATER—Each September the unlimited hydroplanes race over a two and one-half mile course on beautiful Mission Bay. This year San Diego will host the Gold Cup Races for the second straight year in an event attended by more than 50,000 spectators.



HITTING THE STRETCH—Horse racing is popular in San Diego with summer programs at Del Mar and all-year events on weekends in Tijuana, Mexico.

Golf. Pros & Duffers

In most spectator sports, fans sit there and yell, but in big time golf, fans walk and keep their mouths shut and noise down.

Record setting crowds have walked the fairways with their favorites this season on both of San Diego's big time golf tourneys.

The Andy Williams-San Diego Open proved to be a wide open scramble with eventual winner Pete Brown coming from 'way back to tie Great Britain's Tony Jacklin in the last few jumps. Brown, who hadn't won a tournament in more than six years, had a double celebration and a double award when he downed Jacklin in the sudden death playoff.

Before Andy Williams presented a check for $30,000 to the victorious Brown, the popular singer of network television honored him with a personal rendition of "Happy Birthday." It was Brown's 36th birthday.

San Diegans, on the other hand, seldom wait to get on their favorite course. Some 70 golf courses surround the city and spread into the county within easy driving distance of every golfer's home.

SO MUCH TO SEE AT THE ZOO!

Dignified Oldsters . . . while we know our snake-necked tortoises from Australia have been with us 42 years—since May 1927—nobody knows for sure just how old the Zoo's Galapagos Tortoises are. They live to a very ripe age and some of ours are reputed to be over 100 years old!

Meet "Fred" Walrus ... the first at the Zoo in many years. "Fred" is from the Arctic, is just over a year old, but already weighs 550 pounds. Visit him in Bear Canyon.

Day into night . . . our newly arrived and very rare flightless Kiwi birds from New Zealand sleep in daytime and come out at night. So we've built a special nocturnal exhibit for this pair of valuable birds . . . come and see them foraging at night—during the day!

Big Russian Beauties... we've recently acquired three of them . . . Siberian Tigers, the largest cats in the world. With only 150 remaining in the wild, these regal tigers are becoming extremely rare.

Mighty Mite . . . a Mouse Lemur, the smallest Old World primate, weighing just 2 ounces . . . and a bigger brother—the 4-ounce Pigmy Marmoset—who is the smallest New World primate. See "Kakowet," the pigmy chimp and his family, too.

Strictly for the birds . . . our famed Hummingbird Aviary with its 200 brilliantly exotic birds, including 45 kinds of hummers, has a new arrival . . . a charming young lady attendant—our "Hummingbird Maid"—who escorts you through one of the Zoo's most popular attractions on weekends.

There's much more, too, at San Diego Zoo. . . like Safari Bus Tours or the thrilling overhead SKYFARI . . . come soon and enjoy the world's largest collection of wild animals!

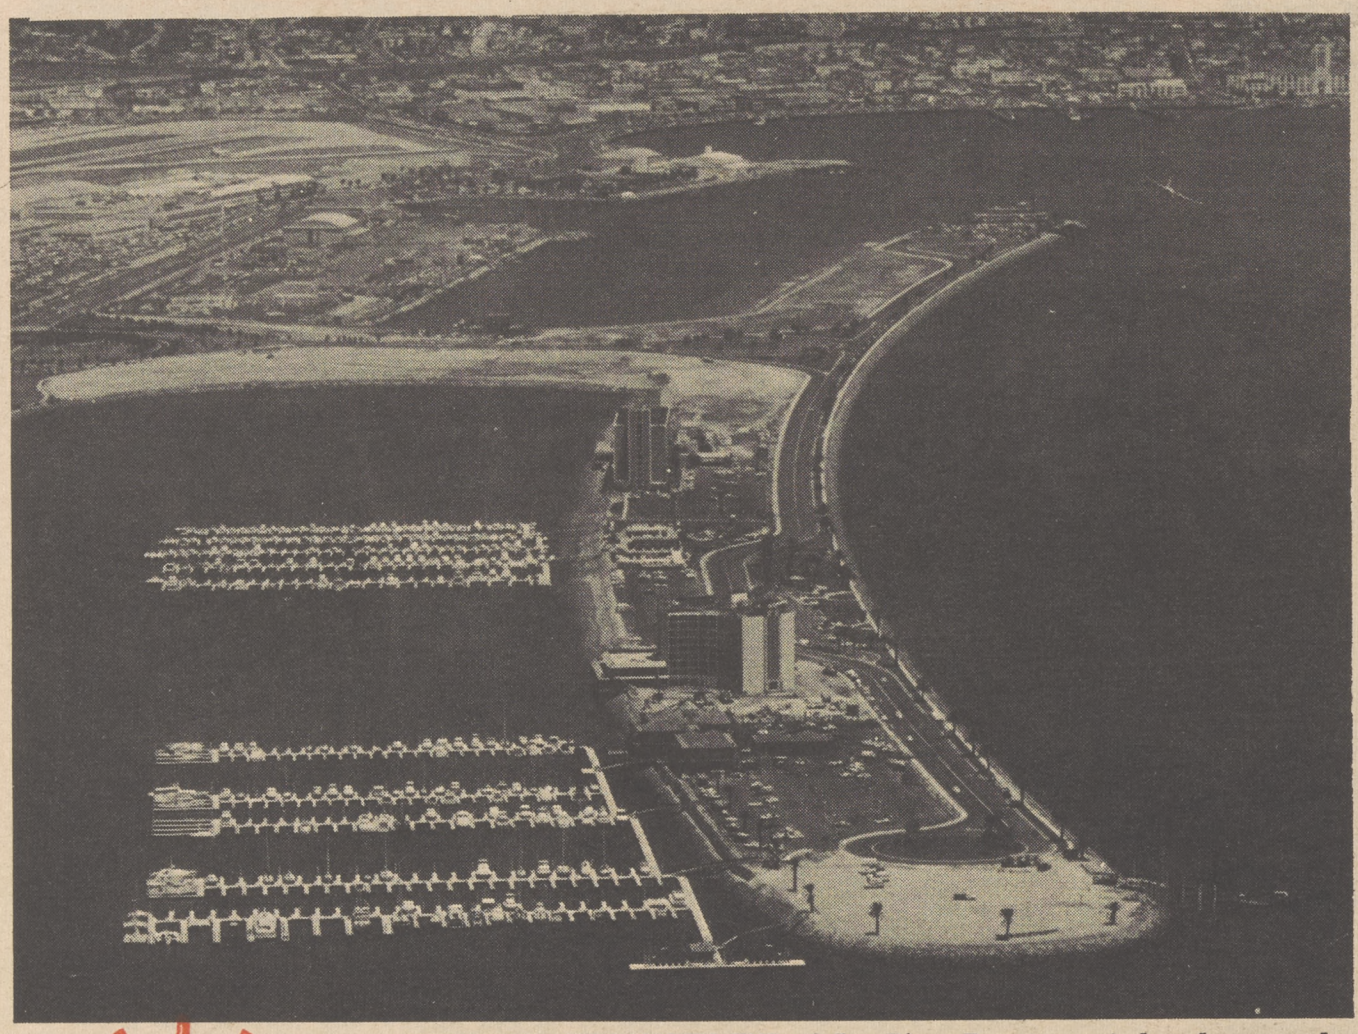
Getting Involved with HARBOR ISLAND

San Diego's Newest Fun Center!



NESTLED AT THE NORTH END of San Diego Bay, crescent shaped, man-made Harbor Island is the result of dredging to deepen the Bay. San Diego's newest tourist center, Harbor Island is seconds from San Diego's International Airport.

Whether you arrive by car, plane of pleasure craft, whether your visit is a weekend browse, a night on the town, a week's vacation or a convention, you'll find Harbor Island brimming with San Diego's newest accommodations for a luxurious, relaxing and interesting, fun-filled time.

Nestled at the north end of San Diego Bay, man-made Harbor Island is two minutes from San Diego International Airport, and five minutes from Interstate 5, the major north-south artery running from Los Angeles through San Diego to the Mexican border.

At the airport, Harbor Island's double-decker London bus or limousines from island hotels provide free shuttle service to and from Harbor Island. Here's what you see as you cross onto Harbor Island:

ONE OF THE BEST SKYLINE VIEWS—is on the other side of this entrance. Reuben's Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge overlook San Diego Bay and the city's skyline. Entertainment and good food abound.

REUBEN'S AND THE REUBEN E. LEE

At the east end of Harbor Island is REUBEN's and the REUBEN E. LEE. These two sumptuously furnished restaurants serve the finest foods and cocktails. The panoramic view of the Bay and San Diego's skyline is breathtaking.

REUBEN's seats 150 in the main dining room, which features cattleman's cut Porterhouse steak and Australian lobster tails. Joey Gallo entertains nightly, except Sunday, in Reuben's lounge. If you don't make plans to arrive early, this room might well be filled to capacity; it's one of the most beautiful and comfortable in the city.

Across the sheltered patio, perfect for early evening or lunch-time cocktails, is the REUBEN E. LEE, a floating Mississippi stern-wheeler, permanently moored to Harbor Island. Come aboard via any of three gangplanks and you're back in the days of the Mississippi riverboats. Built at a cost of $1.8 million, the REUBEN E. LEE is one of the most unusual and exciting restaurants anywhere. From hand-rubbed caprails to the antique armoires, highboys and gaslight chandeliers, the REUBEN E. LEE is filled with authentic details, not to mention great food.

There are two distinct restaurants on board the REUBEN E. LEE. Prime rib, great steak and roast duckling are among the gourmet specialties of the Stern Wheeler; the Seafood Deck speaks for itself, and the Natchez Room is open for lunch to "Men Only." In the Saloon, there is dancing and music by the Tommy Dennis Quartet six nights a week; between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. weekdays, you can partake in Gully-Whumper time—complimentary hot hors d'oeuvres and a double cocktail for the price of one.

The Texas Deck, offering a breathtaking city view is available for banquets and special parties by arrangement with manager Ben Cagle or Paula Coxon. REUBEN E. LEE dining is geared for the personal tastes of its patrons from leisurely meals to fast businessmen's lunches. Late suppers after the show are also a perfect time to dine.

Turning west and continuing down the Island, you pass the site of the future Sheraton Hotel and Convention Center. Scheduled for completion in 1972, the Sheraton will bring Harbor Island's guestroom accommodations to 1,200.

RAMADA INN AND DON THE BEACHCOMBER'S

On the right is the RAMADA INN, towering 10 stories above the sandy beaches of Harbor Island. All 350 beautifully decorated rooms have color T.V. and a view of San Diego Bay. The cocktail lounge is open from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m., with dance music from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The RAMADA INN convention complex can handle from 7 to 700 in the glass-enclosed Barcelona suite that faces Harbor Cove. The Barcelona Ballroom can be divided into three smaller banquet facilities. A permanent dance floor and special overhead track display lighting compliment the Toledo Room.

The FRIEND OF HARBOR ISLAND Gift Shop, 7 FACES OF EVE beauty salon and the GALLEON GRILLE coffee shop (open 24 hours) round out the RAMADA INN's facilities.

DON THE BEACHCOMBER'S, located at the Ramada Inn, opens June 15, 1970, for lunch and dinner seven days a week. Tropical plantings and a small flowing stream add to the authentic South Seas atmosphere that has made DON THE BEACHCOMBER's world-renowned. Seating 250 people in the dining room and 50 in the banquet room, DON THE BEACHCOMBER'S is managed by Don De Los Santos, a native of the Philippines. The restaurant and cocktail lounge cost over $1 million. From its second story, you can see Spanish Landing Park and pleasure craft while sipping Mai Tais to the accompaniment of Polynesian music.

TOWERING ABOVE THE PALMS—Harbor Island's Ramada Inn has 350 rooms and all the facilities of a major hotel. The Inn's Galleon Grill is open around the clock.

MARINA CORTEZ AND LOVE'S WOOD PIT BARBECUE

Further west on Harbor Island is LOVE'S WOOD PIT BARBECUE and the many marine stores and facilities found in MARINA CORTEZ.

LOVE'S WOOD PIT BARBECUE features a menu of succulantly barbecued ribs, beef, pork, ham and chicken, and an interior filled with nautical atmosphere that is fast becoming a Harbor Island byword.

The second story open air patio provides view dining. Add to this LOVE'S famous barbecue sauce and a cocktail lounge with nightly entertainment and dancing. LOVE'S will gladly fix food to go for that sailboat trip. They also have banquet facilities.

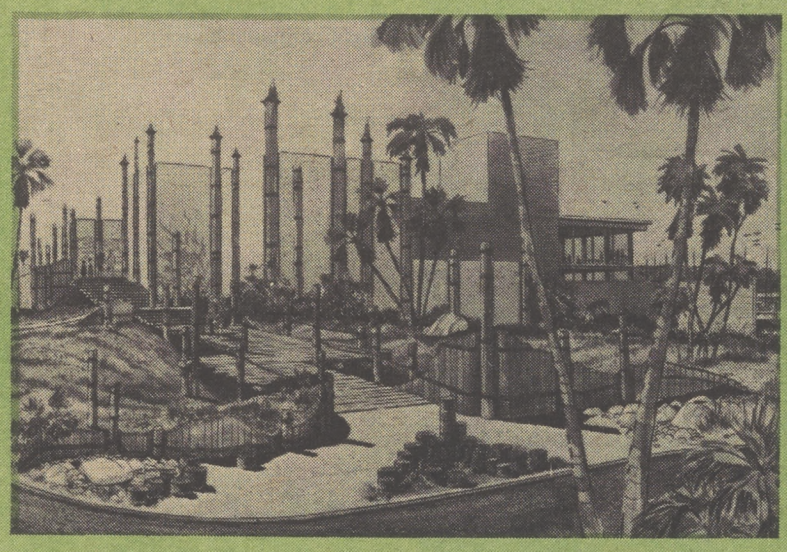
BUSY MARINA CORTEZ houses multiple Harbor Island establishments. Love's Wood Pit Barbecue, with its terrace dining area, occupies the 2nd floor, while on the ground level are Jack Dorsee Sailboats, Kettenburg Marina, Tom Crutchfield Boat Sales, a swimming pool and sauna baths.

Clustered below LOVE'S, on ground level, you can visit Tom Crutchfield BOAT SALES. TOM's place is for powerboat fans looking for something 16 to 24 feet, stern-drive. TOM CRUTCHFIELD sells Arena Craft and Fiberform, two quality names in powerboats. And at CRUTCHFIELD'S you can find nautical antiques from the "High Seas," a tuna clipper wrecked off the entrance to San Diego Harbor during World War II. The restored fittings from the "High Seas" are on display together with TOM's collection of Indian artifacts. CRUTCHFIELD'S is also headquarters for the Cortez Cruising Club, sportsmen who sail the waters of Southern California and Mexico.

KETTENBURG MARINE, managed by Dave Folsom, sells marine hardware, paint, nautical and sea-going books and magazines, and fair or foul weather clothing for those who sail and those who wish they did. KETTENBURG MARINE stocks items from Seagull outboard motors to prints of seascapes by California artists. Nautical gifts and beverages-to-go are available at KETTENBURG, open every day, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

THE PROTECTED WATERS of the Inlet between Harbor Island and the mainland are ideal for small boats. Marina Cortez and Harbor Island Marina provide slips and utilities for pleasure craft, while Harbor Island vacation facilities make life pleasurable, as well ss exciting ashore.

MAKING REGULAR RUNS to downtown San Diego, the London Transport Omnibus is free and colorful transportation to and from Harbor Island. The bus carries businessmen to lunches on Harbor Island and returns them. It is also used for special functions and as a shuttle between the Airport and the Island.



WORLD-RENOWNED RESTAURANT, Don The Beachcomber's, connected to the Ramada Inn, is scheduled for a June 15 opening. South Seas in style and cuisine, Don's has dining, banquet and bar facilities, as well as Polynesian entertainment.

Another integral part of the Marina Cortez complex is JACK DORSEE SAILBOATS—the place to rent, charter or buy a sailboat. For a cruise to Catalina Island or a turn around the Bay, boats from a 14 foot Omega to an Ericson 35 are available, with skipper or sail them yourself.

If it's your own boat you're bringing to San Diego, JACK DORSEE will take care of the customs clearing paperwork for your voyage to Mexico and will help you prepare for the trip. JACK DORSEE is also headquarters for the San Diego Sailing Club.

For the weary sailor, MARINA CORTEZ has sauna baths and a swimming pool.

TRAVELODGE AT HARBOR ISLAND

By far the most striking architectural feature of the Harbor Island hotels is the tri-arc construction of the TRAVELODGE. Costing $2.5 million, the nine story structure has a distinctive new design. Three equally proportioned wings and concave sides encompass a central core. Harbor Island's TRAVELODGE will welcome its first guests this June. Each of the 213 units (some of them suites) has a superb view, as well as color TV.

The Top of the Arc is the penthouse cocktail lounge. For gourmet dining there is Raphael's restaurant, cantilevered over the Cove. Raphael's opens in July, 1970. TRAVELODGE'S banquet and convention facilities were designed to handle groups of up to 300.

THE BOAT HOUSE & HARBOR ISLAND MARINA

THE BOAT HOUSE complex is two stories of warm wood tones, with the restaurant atop a variety of stores and facilities. Built on pilings, the wooden decks and railings throughout the complex contrast with the BOAT HOUSE RESTAURANT interior, the most modern decor on Harbor Island.

THE BOAT HOUSE RESTAURANT and cocktail lounge are built on several levels with domed ceilings and a judicious use of electric blue carpet, mirrors and glass that reflect Harbor Island Cove. Decorated by Diane Powers. the room seems to float above the Cove. While waiting to be seated for dinner of prime ribs or filet mignon Neptune with crablegs and Bernaise sauce, enjoy exciting entertainment and delicious drinks in the Lounge.

THE BOAT HOUSE RESTAURANT is not the only cause for excitement in the complex. JOHNSON & JOSEPH MARINE STORE-CHANDLERY is a complete, modern facility with all the ingredients necessary to conform with the customs and tradition of the trade, and a salty display of nautical fashions. J&J customers are assisted by Niel Birkhead, whose sailing background encompasses world cruising aboard his 50 foot Colin Archer ketch.

The HARBOR ISLAND MARINA, an integral part of the complex, has slips for 248 boats and JACK KELLY YACHT SALES will fit you with a new or used yacht and a place to keep it, if that's your fancy. For the beginners, there's a sailing school as well. The private MARINA CLUB LOUNGE is reserved for boat owners and their guests. For the crew and the public there is THE GALLEY, a seafood bar and coffee shop, offering good shrimp cocktails and tall drafts of beer.

THE SHIP'S LOCKER is the liquor and delicatessen center, and along with THE GALLEY will deliver stores to your yacht at the fuel dock.

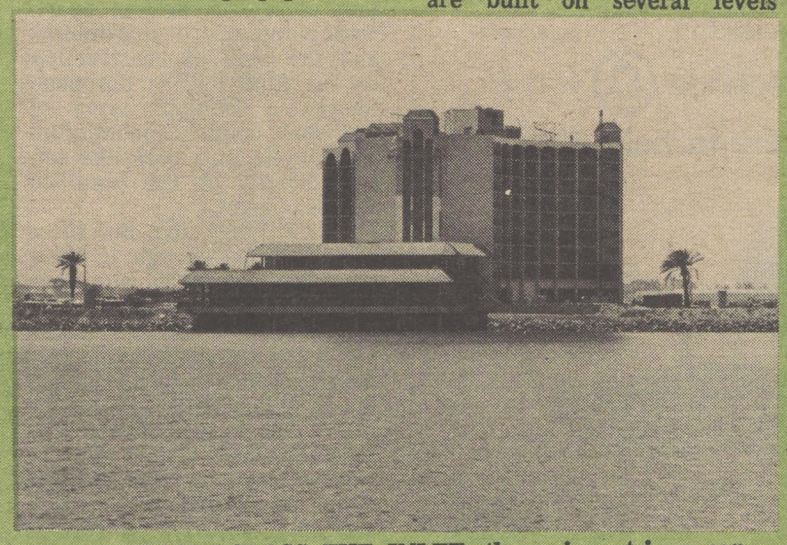
THE HARBOR ISLAND MARINA has a swimming pool, sauna baths and for the adventurous, bicycles to rent.

At the western tip of Harbor Island, construction has begun on TOM HAM'S LIGHTHOUSE. This fine restaurant will extend over San Diego Bay, and is due for completion in the summer of 1971.

AND . . .

Harbor Island is within a few minutes reach of the renowned San Diego Zoo, Seaworld, Balboa Park, the Old Globe Theatre and National Shakespeare Festival, the Stadium, golf courses, the Sports Arena, International Airport and/or a one-day jaunt to Mexico. Harbor Island will delight you with an intriguing variety of water sports, restaurants, hotels, cocktail lounges and entertainment.

Your Harbor Island adventure can be as exciting or relaxing as you like—but either way, a most pleasant one.



SEEN FROM ACROSS THE INLET, the unique tri-arc construction of the TraveLodge Motor Hotel graces Harbor Island. The Hotel is scheduled to open in June, with Raphael's Restaurant, extending over the water, opening in July.

SAN DIEGO'S ONLY FLOATING RESTAURANT is the REUBEN E. LEE, an authentic replica of a Mississippi stern-wheeler. Dining aboard her is a trip into the past—but the food and entertainment are very much in the present.

THE BOATHOUSE RESTAURANT and cocktail lounge top the complex containing Johnson & Joseph, a marine chandlery; The Ship's Locker, liquor store and deli; The Galley, seafood bar and coffee shop, and the HARBOR ISLAND MARINA with complete facilities for pleasure boats. And Jack Kelly Yacht Sales will put you in a new or used Cheoy Lee or Californian 29.

TWO-CITIES CONNECTED— The San Diego-Coronado Bay Bridge is considered one of the most aesthetically beautiful spans in the world. Unique features of the bridge that connects San Diego with the island of Coronado are its bright blue color, three-foot high railing that permits a spectacular view of the area, and a 90-degree curve on the Coronado side.

Coronado A Rebirth

Coronado, California, a settlement on the north end of a peninsula whose headlands are across the bay from San Diego, rocked along for 70 years, growing a little, waxing a bit more fat with money, but being very jealous of its isolation, and hemmed in by fences of fancy that were just as formidable to expansion as though they had been as solid as the great Wall of China.

Then came the Coronado Bridge, (August 19th) and with it development that even in one year has already tripled the assessed valuation of land in the city, saw the construction of a $75 million residential marina (Coronado Cays), beginnings of construction on a $12 million apartment complex (549 apartments) and the start of construction on the $100 million Coronado Shores, a fabulous array of ten limit height condominium apartments in a park-like setting directly on the beautiful Pacific Ocean.

Other things, too. But these three will be enough to show that the Coronado you may have visited as a sleepy resort community, with the proud Hotel Del Coronado as its sole major asset, is not the Coronado of today, even though the Hotel Del is still there, and more beautiful than ever.

Coronado is unique in that it has no bonded debt, or any debt, has millions in various funds for development and the lowest actual property tax rate of any city in San Diego County, and with this low rate offers all the services any decent city gives its citizens.

The Crown City of the Pacific; today its crown has new jewels.

Sunny, mild, and even. That's the only way to describe the San Diego climate. It's never too hot, never too cold—usually just about 68 degrees in the summer, 57 in winter. Rainfall ranges from about 10 inches in the City of San Diego to 40 inches in the mountain areas.

Think

SaverLife!

The best of both: savings and insurance.

YOU AND YOUR FAMILY deserve the best. Right? Then it's none too soon to think about SaverLife, a beautiful new package that combines the security of a savings account with the protection of life insurance. SaverLife! All in one plan . . . at one place . . . with one monthly deposit. You'll find it only at San Diego Federal.

ONE MONTHLY DEPOSIT DOES IT. You decide how much money you want to put aside each month . . . and for how long. Most of your monthly deposit goes directly into your savings account, immediately earning more money for you. A small portion pays for your life insurance — guaranteeing your family the full amount of your savings goal, even if you do not live to complete it. SaverLife! Money to help you live better . . . plus protection for your family. The best of both.

SAVINGS GOAL Minimum	MONTHLY SAVINGS	total deposited/insurance premium/by age 16-39	40-44	45-49	50-54	55-60
$ 1,000	$ 14.64	$ 14.91 $ .27	$ 15.07 $ .43	$ 15.27 $ .63	$ 15.57 $ .93	$ 15.88 $ 1.24
$ 2,000	$ 29.28	$ 29.82 $ .54	$ 30.11 $ .86	$ 30.54 $1.26	$ 31.14 $1.86	$ 31.76 $ 2.48
$ 3,000	$ 43.92	$ 44.73 $ .81	$ 45.21 $1.29	$ 45.81 $1.89	$ 46.71 $2.79	$ 47.64 $ 3.72
$ 4,000	$ 58.56	$ 59.64 $1.08	$ 60.28 $1.72	$ 61.08 $2.52	$ 62.28 $3.72	$ 63.52 $ 4.96
$ 5,000	$ 73.20	$ 74.55 $1.35	$ 75.35 $2.15	$ 76.35 $3.15	$ 77.85 $4.65	$ 79.40 $ 6.20

FIVE YEAR PLAN

Accidental Death Benefit: 8¢ per month per initial thousand.

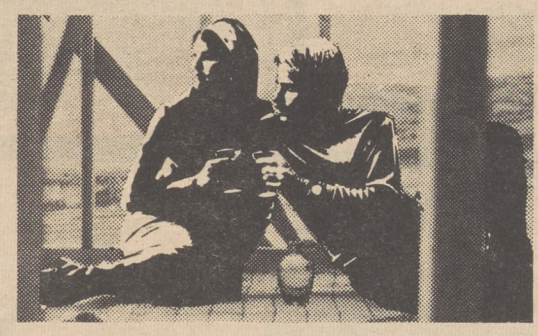
AN EXAMPLE. Suppose you decide you want $2,000 in five years. And you're 29 years old. Your monthly deposit is $29.82 — $29.28 in savings and 54¢ for insurance. At the end of five years, San Diego Federal will have contributed over $243 towards your $2,000.* And you will have $2,000 guaranteed from the day you start. Not bad.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE. Let's try $10,000 in 15 years for a 32-year-old. The monthly deposit is $40.30 — $37.20 for your savings account and $3.10 for insurance. By the time you're 47, San Diego Federal will have paid over $3,300 into your $10,000 account.* And your family can count on $10,000, starting right now. Even better.

OTHER EXAMPLES. The table below shows the amount of monthly deposits for various savings goals over a 5-year period. Similar charts are available for 10, 15 and 20 years. Just visit San Diego Federal (or phone 234-8844) for a copy.

THE INSURANCE. SaverLife insurance is a decreasing term policy provided by American Mutual Life Insurance Company, a 73-year old company with nearly a billion dollars of insurance in force throughout the U.S.

SAVINGS WITHDRAWALS. The whole SaverLife idea is to guarantee that you reach your savings goal. But you can withdraw money early if you need it. Of course, if you don't replace it, your savings goal decreases by that amount. Even so, your life insurance stays in force just as long as there's money in your account to pay the small annual premium.



EXTRA ADDITIONS. You get there faster by making extra deposits whenever you want. These savings begin earning immediately, just like regular deposits.

ELIGIBILITY. Anyone 16 to 60 years of age is eligible for SaverLife. No medical examination is required, except in rare circumstances. When it is, American Mutual Life pays for it.

If you already have an account at San Diego Federal, ask us about adding SaverLife life insurance. Or find out how you can transfer your savings to San Diego Federal and take advantage of low-cost SaverLife with one convenient transaction.

HOW MUCH DO YOU WANT? Set a realistic goal based on how much you want to deposit each month. Then apply for SaverLife by using the coupon below. If you don't happen to fit the examples listed on the coupon, call SaverLife at 234-8844. Or visit any office of San Diego Federal.

The sooner you start, the sooner you get the best of both: high-return savings and low-cost life insurance.

*Based on the current annual rate of 5%.

More than $570 million was spent in San Diego by the Navy and Marine Corps during 1969 for payrolls for their military and civilian employees. Additional hundreds of thousands of dollars were paid to retired military personnel living in San Diego and to sailors aboard San Diego-based ships.

Good thing: WRITE CHECKS FREE

...on your personal and business account.

Take a good hard look at all of the claims for "no-charge" checking, and you'll find they are not the same.

At San Diego Trust you write all the checks you want, free... simply by maintaining a minimum monthly balance of $100. (Compare with the $300 to $500 required by many other banks.)

And at San Diego Trust there's a flat fee of only $1 if your balance dips below $100... no matter how many checks you write. (Many other banks charge more.)

So...shop around. See if "no charge" checking doesn't cost you less, a lot less, at San Diego Trust, the good things bank.

Programs Emphasized For Youth

Youth programs conducted in churches of the San Diego area which demonstrate interest in community affairs are typified by three churches of the North Shores area.

Typical youth programs are carried on within the Clairemont Lutheran Church, Pacific Beach Presbyterian Church and Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist, as examples.

The Lutheran Church maintains programs for 7th and 8th grades in which students plan once a month activities in the form of an outing such as horseback riding, miniature golf, or go-cartng.

Ninth graders hold discussion meetings and attend outings. A recent outing involved a trip to Mexico in which members brought food and clothing to an orphanage and helped in the construction of a new building.

Senior high members meet each Sunday for Bible studies, discussions and outings which often include interaction with other youth groups in the city. This group is in the process of establishing a coffee house as a meeting place for their discussions.

The church also sponsors Cub Scouts, Boy Scout and Explorer units as well as two Girl Scout troops on the cadette level. All youth activities are directed by the pastor together with other volunteer adult sponsors.

The Presbyterian Church, long active within its community, is expanding its cooperative work with other denominations in the area. Its youth are contributing much to the new positive ecumenical movements.

In addition to Sunday and summer church school opportunities for all ages, it conducts two year-around youth organizations, a six-week summer program for fifth and sixth graders, four children and youth choirs, a Boy Scout troop, a Cub Scout pack; not to mention special activities for various ages and occasions.

Youths of junior high school age meet weekly during the school year and twice during the week in summer months. Retreats are held for the purpose of study and fellowship and carrying on various work projects. This group did painting and building work one year as one of their projects for orphans of Casa de Todos in Mexico.

The high school students meet Sunday evenings and have made significant contributions to the community. Noteworthy of their consistent support of a major program is the weekly work of eight or 12 of the senior high students who work at the Golden Hill food distribution center in central San Diego. This program has been youth initiated, youth organized and supported since its inception a year ago.

Choir groups include youngsters in grades one through three who participate in services once a month and also sing for the community in special programs. Another group, four through six, are known for their seasonal presentations to church and community groups such as retirement homes, civic organizations, and an annual appearance on a television program.

Two specialized choirs for youth of junior and senior high age offer opportunity to share in both traditional and new creativity of church music. One group prefers to sing contemporary and folk music in addition to a more traditional repertoire.

The sponsorship of a Boy Scout Troop 50 years ago and a Cub Scout pack over a quarter of a century ago, both maintained up to the present time, has undoubtedly helped in the earning of the George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge this year.

Another church youth group of the Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist, meet monthly for a social or service project. Their social activities include trips to the Rose Parade in Pasadena, a skiing week-end, bicycle ride and barbecue.

This young group sang carols at Sunland Home Foundation, a Christian Science sanitorium, during the Christmas season. They also helped prepare brochures for their church publication at the Del Mar County Fair.

The median age in San Diego back in 1950 was 30.5 for the city and 29.9 for the county. By 1960 it had dropped to 27 years for the city and 26.4 for the county. By the time 1970 statistics are released the figures should drop again.

MISSION SAN LUIS REY—Often called the "King of Missions," San Luis Rey is the largest of all 21 early California Missions. It is open to the public daily with guided tours by members of the Franciscan Order. Like many of the original California missions, San Luis Rey is still in use today as a house of worship. The mission is located 40 miles north of San Diego near Oceanside.

Churches Grew With Community

Significant with the developing of San Diego came an inspiring growth in churches.

Throughout the county there are 800 churches representing 37 major religious bodies, 298 in the city of San Diego. In addition, there are 64 independent churches not affiliated with others in the San Diego area.

Figures from the San Diego County Council of Churches show that San Diego has more Baptist congregations than any other kind, with 81 churches.

Next in line are the county's 67 Catholic parishes, followed by the United Methodists with 44; Assembly of God, 44; United Presbyterian, 31; American Lutheran, 30; Missouri Synod Lutheran, 26; Episcopal, 30, and Church of Christ, 28.

ANNUAL EASTER EVENT—Easter Sunrise services are an annual community event at El Camino Memorial Park. Pictured is a portion of the crowd which attended the sixth annual services to be held in the Outdoor Chapel of El Camino Memorial Park's Mausoleum of the Bells. Event is staged each year by the Pastors Conference of the San Diego Southern Baptist Association.

San Diego County had 61,146 cars and 88,393 trucks registered in 1969 for a total of 824,515, up 75,000 over 1968. Also included in the figures are trailers and motorcycles.

Visitor expenditures in San Diego last year totaled some $408 million dollars. Included in that figure is $108 million spent by Mexican visitors.

CULTURE BOON

Art . . . Past, Present, Future

Contributing to the cultural one-upmanship of San Diego is a variety of galleries which offers works of the past, the present and the future.

Two of the finest galleries are La Jolla Museum of Art and the San Diego Fine Arts Gallery.

The La Jolla Museum of Art, located at 700 Prospect Street, is both a free public art museum and a center of community cultural activities serving La Jolla and greater San Diego.

A private, nonprofit institution, the La Jolla Museum was incorporated as the Art Center in La Jolla in 1941, by a group of artist-founders.

In the intervening years, gallery space, studios and a 500-seat auditorium, Sherwood Hall, have been added to the original building, which had served as the home of Miss Ellen Browning Scripps.

The museum, under the direction of Thomas S. Tibbs, today concentrates on the exhibition of 20th century art, with particular emphasis on the art of today.

Temporary exhibitions change approximately every month and part of the museum's permanent collection is always on view.

Opening at the museum on May 16 was an exhibition, entitled Projections: Antimaterialism, which attempts to probe one of the directions that art may take in the 1970's —that of creating impermanent, unpurchaseable art designed for viewing only at the time and location for which it is created.

For this exhibition, one-time-only works of nonobject art were created at the museum by Robert Barry and Sol LeWitt of New York and David Deutsch, Charles Emerson, Barry LeVa and David Thompson of California.

In addition to its program of exhibitions, the museum regularly offers lectures, films and other art-oriented programs to its members and to the public.

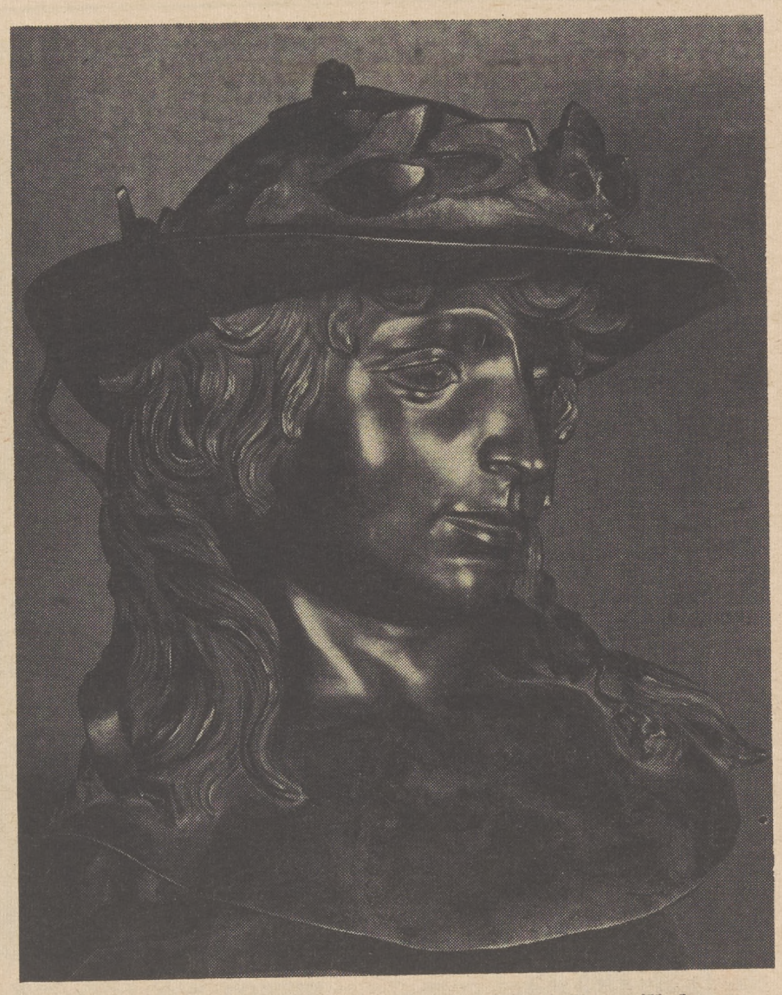
A lecture series on 20th century art has been conducted free for the museum's membership throughout the year, with slide-illustrated talks by the professional staff.

Among the special programs planned for 1970-71 are two first run films, Ingmar Bergman's "The Ritual" and March Bellocchio's "Fists in the Pocket."

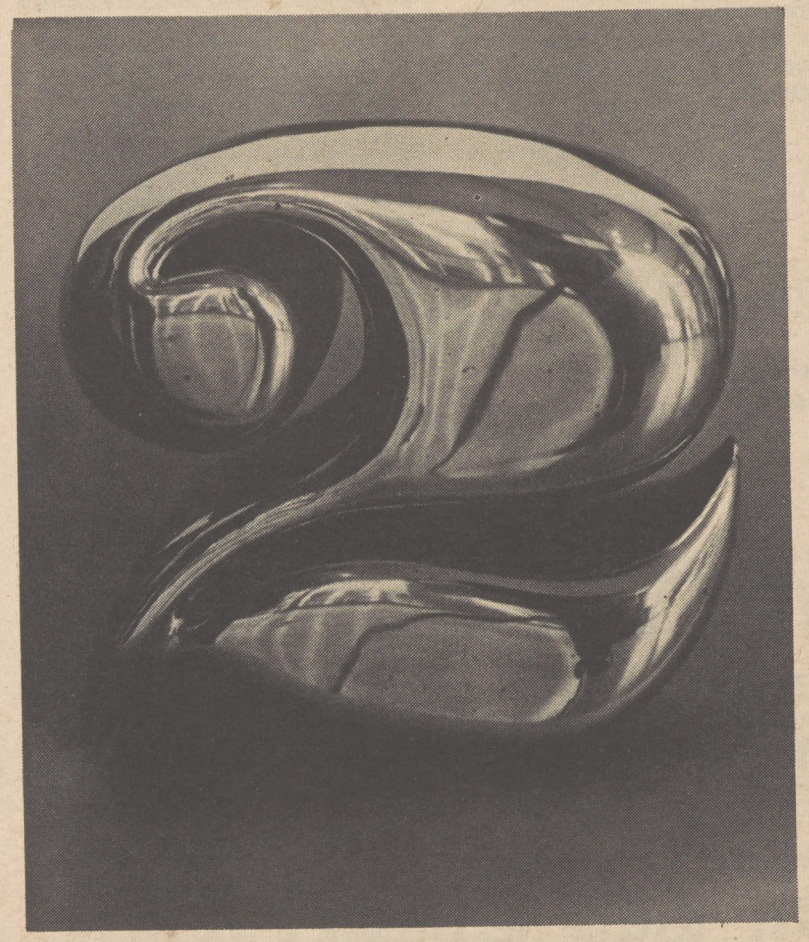
These films will be shown in an exclusive engagement at Sherwood Hall, through arrangements made with the Janus Concert Society of Janus Films.

An art school is also maintained in the museum's studios, with courses in painting, sculpture and drawing, and ceramics offered to adult and teenage students and painting and clay modeling classes available to children age 5 to 11. The museum enrolled students of all ages for its summer classes to be held from July 6 through Aug. 15, with its staff of professional artist-instructors.

Membership in the La Jolla Museum of Art is as little as $15 a year for a family. Membership privileges include discounts on children's art classes, free or reduced-rate admission to all museum-sponsored events, use of the art rental gallery and art reference library and invitations to preview receptions prior to each new exhibition.



HEAD OF DAVID—This bronze, by Donatello, will be exhibited June 27-August 2 by the California Arts Commission in San Diego. The work is for the sighted and the bind.



SCULPTURE "2"—The brass sculpture "2" is presently on display at La Jolla Museum of Art, 700 Prospect Street, La Jolla. The piece is by nationally recognized sculptor Robert Matheny and was acquired by the museum in 1967. The interesting work measures 10½" x 10½" x 4¾".

While La Jolla Museum of Art stresses contemporary and futuristic art, the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego takes pride in its collection of old masters.

Fine Arts Gallery opened its doors in February, 1926.

It was culmination of an effort begun in 1925 when Mr. and Mrs. Appleton S. Bridges offered to build a gallery and provide an endowment fund for San Diego if a society were organized to manage it and a suitable site were provided.

City of San Diego, through its park department, offered an excellent site at the north end of the Plaza de Panama in Balboa Park.

The gallery was designed by Robert W. Snyder and William Templeton Johnson, San Diego architects. It contains 12 exhibition spaces with some 12,000 square feet of floor space.

Design of the art gallery is in the style of the Spanish Renaissance which, in the early 16th century, produced the noblest architectural monuments in Spain.

The gallery and its affairs are managed by the Fine Arts Society of San Diego which can trace the beginning of its efforts back to 1915, when the San Diego Art Guild was organized. In 1920, the guild formed a society known as The Friends of Art.

In 1921, the Friends relieved the guild of some of its burdens. In July, 1924, the two united in a stronger society, and the present Fine Arts Society came into being in April, 1925. The Art Guild is now a committee of the Fine Arts Gallery.

The Fine Arts Society has administered the gallery since its opening. A 30-member board elected Reginald Poland as its first director. Henry G. Gardiner is current director.

In acquiring works over the years, quality rather than quantity has been the goal of the Fine Arts Gallery. Its emphasis on Spanish works, supported by San Diego's early history, was apparent in the inaugural exhibition and in its early acquisitions.

First major Spanish work was a St. Jerome by Francesco Zurburan, a contemporary of Velazquez. The gallery features other of Zurburan's works which are much admired by art experts.

In addition, the gallery features Spanish painters including Velazquez, Ribera, Goya, El Greco and Sanchez Cotan.

The gallery offers an Italian section, works from Venice, the Netherlands, Dutch and Flemish works

According to an old legend, St. James (San Diego) was borne to Spain upon a shell. This feature, which occurs in diverse forms of the Spanish ornaments adorning the Fine Arts Gallery, is used to create an arch over the main doorway as the principal decoration.

As St. James was borne over the sea, so has the quiet fame of San Diego reached the shores of the Continent. Of the many European art directors and scholars who have passed through the gallery there were few who came under the spell of San Diego's masters collection who did not also fall in love with San Diego itself.

The city with its web of freeways, may one day, of course, become a mere wasteland of commercial signs, a place to pass through as quickly as possible.

But San Diego's natural beauty, enhanced by galleries, schools and colleges, is the best magnet for drawing and holding the leadership the city needs in business, science and creative arts.

We sold a bunch even before the paint was dry.

It's a fact.

Folks have been just about knocking down our doors. Even before we got them up.

And. No wonder.

Nothing like Encore has ever happened to San Diego before.

Encore is a wonderful new world of sweeping design, vivid color, bold, spacious floorplans. They're new. And they're in one of the most magnficient locations. Anywhere.

You won't believe how easily you can move right in.

We've got Spacemasters. Big homes to begin with. Then we've left a huge portion unfinished upstairs. Out of sight. So you can add rooms as you get more family. Or money. Or both.

And.

With construction costs spiraling there is no better time to buy your new Encore home than right now. You'll never again be able to buy so much brand new home for so little money.

Never.

Come on out today and take at all our big new Encore homes. Especially our Spacemaster. They're made to grow into. Not out of.

No wonder we've sold a bunch. Even before the paint was dry.

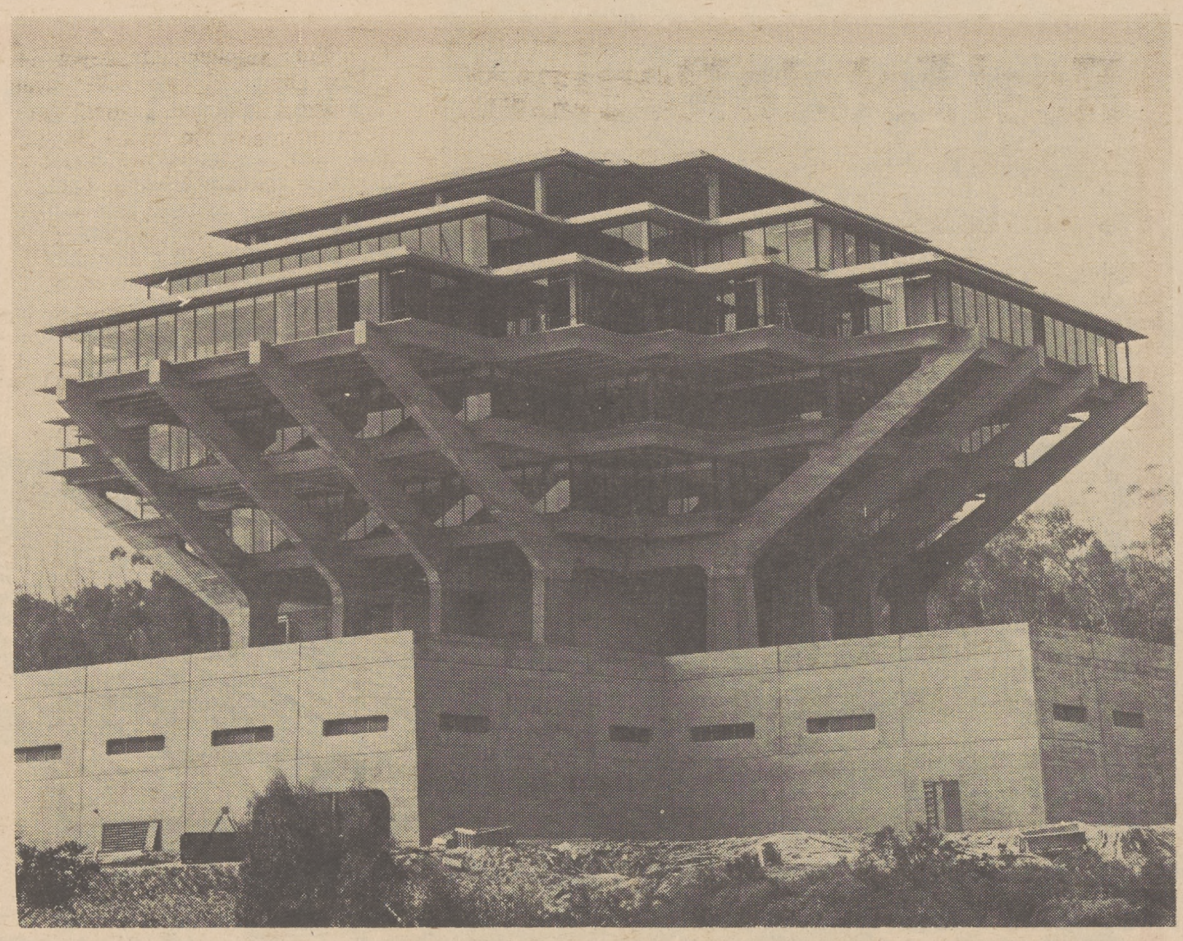
4-MAJOR COLLEGES PROVIDE TOOLS FOR HIGHER EDUCATION



NEW ON CAMPUS—This imposing structure, in the finishing stage, will serve all the colleges on the U. of California at San Diego campus, located in the northern section of the city. College, when completed, will have an enrollment of 27,000.

By SUSIE SMITH

San Diego has long had a national image as an aerospace and missile center, but surprisingly enough, higher education and research provide more jobs and are bringing new prominence to the City in Motion of the Seventies.

San Diego's four major colleges are not simply the source of employment for more than 40,000 teachers and administrators. They have changed San Diego's image as a military center and provided the basis for development of the aerospace and biomedical industries and other scientific endeavors which attract scores of noted scientists and researchers.

Even with recent government cutbacks in military and research and development programs, San Diego has become diversified enough to maintain its stability and continue its long-term project of developing a multi-faceted economy.

Scripps Institution of Oceanography, which originally was an outgrowth of the University of California's Department of Zoology in 1892, has evolved into a facility which conducts research into every aspect of marine science. The 158-acre complex in La Jolla includes 12 permanent buildings and operates eight ocean-going research vessels, plus the floating instrument platform, FLIP.

The U. S. Navy is the largest single sponsor backing the institution's research projects, but sponsorship comes from 40 different government agencies, private foundations and industrial companies. The total annual value of its activities exceeds $15 million.

Scripps joins more than 75 other ocean-oriented industries in San Diego to earn the city the title of "Oceanographic Capital of the World."

The growing complex around the University of California also includes the world-renowned Salk Institute for Biological Studies.

Headed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, acclaimed for his contribution to medical science through the development of polio vaccine, the institute is engaged in research of the fundamental problems of molecular biology. Researchers there are seeking a single cause for all human disease through integrated study of biology at the molecular level. The institute's continuing programs are expected to provide information on problems such as cancer, virus diseases, organ transplants and many other medical problems.

The UCSD School of Medicine, rated by some as one of the top three in the country because of the high caliber of its faculty and facilities, is now screening applicants for its third class in the fall of 1970. Less than a hundred students were accepted from 4,000 applicants in the first two years. Eventually, total annual enrollment will reach 400.

The medical school operates University Hospital which attracts the top medical researchers in the country. In addition, the school's medical staff will be integrated into that of the new $34.5 million Veterans Administration Hospital now under construction adjacent to the university.

The first college of UCSD, Revelle College, opened in 1964 and was followed by the opening of John Muir College in 1967. Muir College moved this year from its temporary "staging area" to its permanent campus buildings.

The fall of 1970 will mark the opening of the staging area for a third college of 200 students which will emphasize minority student education and relative contemporary social problems.

In three years, the university will open its fourth college and continue its growth until it includes 12 colleges with a total enrollment of 27,500 students. Currently, all colleges, plus Scripps Institution and the School of Medicine, have a total enrollment of 4,700 students. Dr. William J. McGill heads UCSD but will become president of Columbia University next fall.

While the University of California is the newest four-year college in San Diego and is growing in size and importance at a rapid rate, San Diego State College is seeing similar expansion on a 300-acre site on a mesa overlooking Mission Valley. Founded in 1897, it is one of 18 California State Colleges. Some 1,400 professors conduct classes for more than 24,000 students.

Headed by President Malcolm Love, San Diego State has $20 million budgeted for new construction in the next few years. It expects to reach its maximum size of 27,000 students in the early 1970's.

The school also boasts another campus serving the Imperial Valley at Calexico. The university offers Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees in 54 fields and Master of Arts and Master of Science degrees in 42 fields.

United States International University, formerly California Western University, has grown far beyond its lush Point Loma campus with the development of six new school sites.

The California Western campus, occupying 140 acres of wooded land overlooking the Pacific Ocean, contains a College of Arts and Sciences and a School of Law.

USIU's second campus, the School of Performing Arts in downtown San Diego, offers extensive professional training in theatre, dance and music and houses the university's central administration offices.

The Elliott Campus opened in the fall of 1968 on 410 acres of wooded land in northern San Diego. It includes a College of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate School of Leadership and Human Behavior, the Graduate School of Business Administration and the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.

In addition to its three local campuses, USIU lists its Colorado Alpine Campus in Steamboat Springs, Colo.; USIU in England; University Center in Mexico City (to open in fall, 1970); and USIU in Kenya (to open in 1971). Total enrollment for all campuses is 4,000 students and classes are usually limited to 35 students. The university, headed by President William C. Rust, is private and independent.

The University of San Diego includes two undergraduate colleges—the College for Men and the College for Women—as well as a graduate division and the School of Law. Overlooking the historic birthplace of San Diego and California, the university has coordinated its men's and women's colleges into an academically unified body with a unified faculty senate and coeducational classes offering a fully accredited Bachelor of Arts degree.

The College for Women was founded by the Society of the Sacred Heart in 1952. It was the sixth college established by the society in the United States. The first Bishop of San Diego established the College for Men in 1954. The faculty of the university includes priests, nuns and laymen with a student-teacher ratio of 10-1.

Higher education IS big business in San Diego. It has been a major factor in diversifying the city's economic resources and its constant growth lends authority to San Diego's claim of being a City in Motion.

San Diego was discovered by Juan Rodriquez Cabrillo in 1542. Cabrillo, a Portuguese navigator in the service of Spain, claimed all of California for Spain. It wasn't until 1769 when the first mission was established at Presidio Hill that San Diego considered itself "born." The city celebrated its 200th anniversary last year with a year-long round of festivities.

Easily the largest city in San Diego County is San Diego itself with an estimated 711,600 residents. Next largest is Chula Vista with about 66,700, followed by El Cajon with 51,100. The county's total population is about 1,400,000.

REAL ESTATE BROKER COURSE
You receive nine 3-hour lessons, complete lesson materials, take-home tests, text book, comprehensive exams and a money-back guarantee that you'll pass your state examination, plus 12 hours of Sales-Success training.

Typical comments from Real Estate Professionals:

MORRIE KRAUS, President, San Diego Board of Realtors, 1970. "No company is able to provide all the in-service training required in today's complex market. So I encourage all my salesmen and brokers to take advance courses at Anthony Schools."

SYLVIA BURGESS, Burgess Realty, Chula Vista. "When our son, Jim, said he wanted to join the business, I told him the first step was to sign up for the Anthony Schools course. Both my husband and I know from personal experience that Anthony Schools not only prepare you well for your examinations, they give you loads of excellent ideas for getting ahead."

MORRIE BAKKEN, Willis M. Allen Company, La Jolla. "The Anthony courses are so well planned, they save hours of laborious cramming. Secondly, the school updates lesson material so frequently you know you're learning current regulations. In fact, I sincerely believe everyone in the industry could benefit from taking the Anthony course every five years."

TRUMAN BROOKS, Vice-President, Lee Mather Realty, Coronado. "Anthony gave me everything I needed to get through my brokerage examination without a bit of trouble. We recommend Anthony Schools to every person who wishes to enter the real estate business."

Real Estate Review

By MORRIE KRAUS

Using the service of a Realtor to fill the need of the home-seeker as well as the seller, too often overshadows his other important roles in the whole spectrum of the real estate field.

The expansion and increasing complexity of even housing today points up the need for expertise of the Realtor in all real estate matters.

No matter to what phase of real estate you turn. you find Realtors engaged as appraisers, professional property managers, counselors and specialists in sales or leasing of commercial property, industrial parks, farm and agricultural lands and the whole gambit of land use.

What will happen to real estate in San Diego in the forseeable future? Since residences are the greater bulk of real estate activities in the past. Let me give you my opinion of what will occur in this field during the next few years.

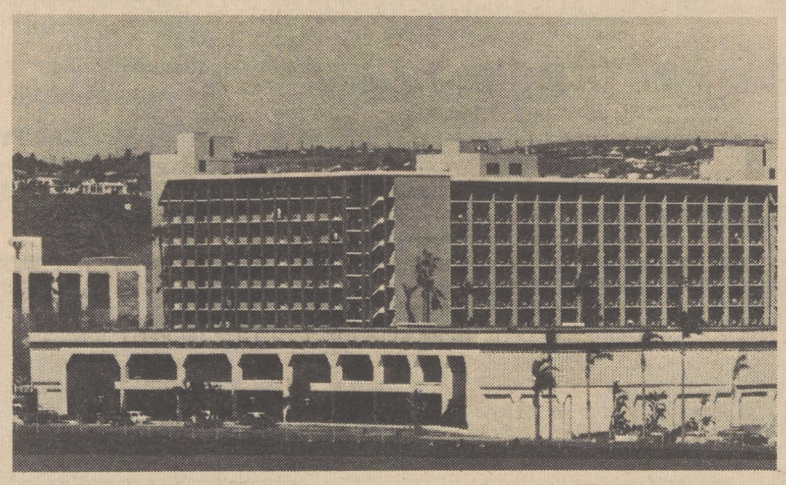
Because single family housing was at a literal standstill for some time and apartment housing was undergoing a spurt, the latter has finally caught up. There is hardly a street now that hasn't got a vacancy sign. The subdivision and tract homes have picked up steam and will be an important factor within the next 18 months, although at higher prices.

Realtor Morrie Kraus, president of the San Diego Board of Realtors and Circle Realty

Tight money has educated both buyers and sellers alike that the days of easy and low interest rates are a thing of the past. More and more sellers are beginning to realize that now is the time to sell. especially with FHA points again lowered and with interest rates sure to skyrocket further.

Despite all of the present deterents, real estate today, no matter in what form, is still the best bet against creeping inflation and a stable factor for estate building.

The biggest employer in San Diego during 1969 was federal, state and local governments with some 97,100 jobs. Next were the service industries with 92,800, followed by retail trade with 76,200. Next in line was manufacturing with 71,700.



THE CONVENTION CENTER in Mission Valley is the newest of its kind; is completely sound-proofed and boasts the most modern electronic equipment. As many as 2400 persons can be seated for a formal dinner; large foyers are available for cocktail parties and there is ample parking.

Sorrento - Clean Industry

SORRENTO VALLEY—One of the fastest growing complexes of industrial facilities and laboratories is the booming Sorrento Valley in northern San Diego.

Already more than 90 companies have opened various kinds of facilities here, occupying more than half a million square feet.

And it's all "clean" industry.

Located near the Sorrento Valley is the San Diego campus of the University of California, where some of the nation's most outstanding scientists have come to teach and do their research. Also the world-renowned Salk Institute, the university's medical school, and a new Veterans Hospital are, or will be, operating soon in the immediate area.

Today Sorrento Valley has everything from the impressive Gulf General Atomic laboratories to numerous smaller research firms, many of them delving into the secrets of the ocean and in biomedical research . . . like Cal Biochem of Los Angeles which will open a 110,000 square foot, $2 million plant next year.

So if you're looking, don't pass up the Sorrento Valley. There must be a reason why everyone else is heading there.
